Our students are given every assurance that changes to opportunities will only be made under compelling circumstances and students will be fully informed as soon as possible.
Guide to the usage of this Handbook

The following is a general overview of the structure of this Handbook for the guidance of users. The contents are organised in a number of different sections (see below) each of which has a particular focus. The sections are interlinked by cross-references where relevant.

(a) General Information: This section lists the faculty staff, terms for the current year, lecture periods, a key (guide) to the course code system and definitions of terminology used. It includes information on the professional status and recognition of the Faculty's degrees, its links with professional bodies and the list of qualifications offered.

(b) Faculty Rules for Postgraduate Qualifications: This section covers the Faculty rules for each of the various programmes. These rules should be read in conjunction with the general University rules in the General Rules and Policies Handbook (Handbook 3). Students are expected to acquaint themselves with the rules in both Handbooks, to check annually whether the rules or curriculum requirements have changed since the last edition and to take particular note of the following:
   - rules relating to registration and examinations;
   - rules relating to changes of curriculum;
   - rules relating to leave of absence;
   - rules on Academic Conduct;
   - rules concerning dishonest conduct and plagiarism.

Detailed information on the undergraduate entrance requirements can be found in the University Prospectus.

(c) Departments and Centres in the Faculty of Humanities and in other Faculties offering Postgraduate Degree and Diploma Courses: This section contains entries for each department in the Faculty listing members of staff, the research entities, if any, and the programmes of study administered. The curriculum for each programme (list of required courses) is set out in detail followed by the full list and descriptions of courses offered in alpha-numeric order (i.e. based on the course code prefix). The courses offered by other faculties which are more commonly taken by students in the Faculty of Commerce and Law are also listed and described.

(d) Centres/Institutes in the Faculty: These are entries for the principal Faculty entities/units which do not fall directly under academic departments e.g. the Institute for Humanities in Africa.

(e) Additional information: This sections lists the fellows, distinguished professors and teachers in the faculty. It also includes lists of the various prizes and scholarships awarded on academic merit awarded by departments.

List of Departmental Letter Codes
In numerous instances courses are referred to through use of their codes. To assist students a list of departmental letter codes are given below. This is not a comprehensive list, but includes those teaching courses most frequently taken by students in this Faculty. In cases where a code is not understood, the department should be identified from the list, and then the departmental entry in this Handbook, or the Department itself, should be consulted.

Structure of Course Codes

Every course in this Handbook has a course name and a course code (or catalogue number). The code structure is uniform and it gives important information about the course. Each code has eight characters, as follows: AAA1nnnS, where

- AAA is a 3 alpha-character group identifying the department
- 1 is a number representing the year of study in which the course is usually taken
- Nnn is a 3 character number that identifies the course uniquely
- S is a single alpha-character suffix, giving information about the course

Suffixes which are most frequently used in the Faculty are:

- F First semester course
- S Second semester course
- W Whole-year course
- H Half-course taught throughout the year
- Z Non-standard period

The following examples show how the codes work:

ELL4061F Literature and Language Studies

- ELL designates a course offered by the Department of English Language & Literature
- 4 designates an NQF level 8 course
- 013 an assigned number that serves to distinguish this course from other English courses
- F designates a first semester course

POL5002S Conflict in World Politics

- POL designates a course offered by the Department of Political Studies
- 5 designates an NQF level 9 course
- 035 an assigned number that serves to distinguish this course from other Political Studies courses
- S designates a second semester course

EDN6015F/S Advanced Educational Research Design

This designates that the course is offered in the first semester and again in the second semester.
Definitions of terms used in this handbook

Concession: Formal Senate approval exempting a student from complying with a required rule.

Co-requisite: A subject or course for which a student must be registered concurrently with (at the same time as) another course.

Pre-requisite: A subject or course that a student must have completed in order to gain admission to another (usually a more senior) course.

Curriculum: Prescribed course of study for a degree or diploma.

DP (Due Performance) requirement: Required minimum level of performance during the semester or year to qualify a student to do an examination in a particular course or module.

Exemption: Exemption from a course means that the student need not register for this course since he/she has studied a sufficiently similar course before. He/she is granted credit for the course studied before.

Continuous assessment: Evaluation of a student's performance (by means of written, oral or practical work) during the year, before the final examination in a particular course.

NQF credits, HEQSF qualification levels and HEQSF course levels:
All South African tertiary institutions are required to align their qualifications with the prescriptions of the national Higher Education Qualifications Sub-Framework. Each qualification has an exit level and is required to have a minimum number of HEQSF credits at that level. One credit equals 10 notional hours of learning.

The HEQSF requires the following credits per qualification:
- Bachelor’s degree of four years (exit level 8): Minimum of 480 credits. Minimum credits at level 7 (i.e. third year level): 120; minimum credits at level 8 (fourth year level and above): 96.
- Bachelor Honours degree (exit level 8): Minimum total credits: 120, all at level 8 or above.
- Postgraduate Diploma (exit level 8): Minimum total credits: 120, minimum credits at level 8: 120.
- Master’s degree (exit level 9): Minimum total credits: 180. Minimum credits at level 9: 120; maximum credits at level 8: 60. (A full dissertation master’s will be 180 credits at level 9).
- Doctoral degree (exit level 10): Minimum total credits: 360 at level 10.

Programme, qualification and specialisation: A programme is a purposeful and structured set of learning experiences that leads to a qualification. Within a qualification (e.g. Master of Social Science) there may be various streams (for example a Sociology or Justice and Transformation specialisation in the MSocSc). In some cases there is a single programme within a qualification.

Specialisations: Within a postgraduate programme there may be several “specialisations,” each of which has its own plan code.

Named qualification vs. specialisations in a “generic” qualification: Special application must be made to the Higher Education Qualifications Council to use the full name of a programme, e.g. Master of Arts in Clinical Psychology as opposed to Master of Arts with a specialisation in Creative Writing.
Programme/course convener: Academic staff member in charge of offering the degree or diploma programme or a course within the degree or diploma programme.

Professional registration

Psychology
To become a Psychologist in one of the recognised areas of Psychology, namely Clinical, Counselling, Educational, Organisational and Research Psychology, a student must complete a recognised Master’s degree in Psychology and an appropriate practicum at a recognised training institution. The duration of a practicum is 12 months. Persons registered from 1 January 2005 in addition will have to write an examination set by the Professional Board for Psychology.

The Department of Psychology at the University of Cape Town provides training leading towards registration in Clinical Psychology. The School of Management Studies in the Faculty of Commerce provides training leading towards registration in the fields of Organisational Psychology.

Social Work
Practice in the field of Social Work is regulated by the Council for Social Service Professions, with which all Social Workers must register. The Council lays down the minimum standards of both academic and practical training requisite for professional registration, and the Department of Social Department of Social Development provides training in terms of these standards.

Under current legislation, the minimum requirement for professional registration with the Council is a 4-year BSW degree. Students registered for the BSW degree are required to register as student social workers from the 2nd year of study.

The South African Council for Social Service Professions will accept the UCT 3-year BSocSc(SW) degree plus an Honours degree offered by the Department of Social Development as equivalent to the BSocSc(SW) 4-year degree for registration as a Social Worker.

NOTE: Those students who registered prior to 1988 and completed the BSocSc (B curriculum) degree must be in possession of the BSocSc(SW) Honours degree or the Advanced Diploma in Social Work to qualify for professional registration with the Council for Social Service Professions.

(a) A two-year programme may be offered for bona fide part-time students by any department in the Faculty which offers an Honours course, at the discretion of the Head of the Department concerned. Applications from students for the two-year programme shall be submitted, together with evidence that the applicant is a bona fide part-time student, by the Head of the Department concerned to the Board of the Faculty for approval.

(b) A part-time candidate shall attend and complete the prescribed work for the degree within two years of part-time study.

FH6 Extended Honours programme:
In exceptional circumstances, the Senate may permit a graduate it deems worthy on academic grounds but who does not have an adequate undergraduate background, to undertake a full-time Honours programme over two years. In such a case, the candidate must complete in the first year courses prescribed by the Senate, chosen to strengthen his/her background, and may undertake a portion of the Honours programme, provided that this portion does not exceed 30% of the full programme. Such a student shall register as an occasional student in the first year. On successful completion of the first year, he/she will be permitted to register as an Honours candidate, and complete the remainder of the Honours programme in the second year.

FH7 Obtaining the degree:
An Honours candidate shall not attend courses not included in the work prescribed for the degree, or write examinations other than those prescribed for the degree, except by permission of Senate.

FH8 Assessment:
8.1 The Honours examination shall consist of such written papers and such oral, practical and other tests as may be prescribed from time to time.

Research that involves human participants or animal use for research or teaching must undergo ethics review, according to faculty-specific guidelines. Review generally entails prior approval of a research proposal by a Research Ethics or Animal Ethics Committee. In cases where prior approval is not appropriate, the research proposal should be subjected to appropriate deliberative procedures, according to faculty-specific guidelines. Research papers or dissertations that involve human participants or animal use may not be submitted for examination if they have not undergone any ethics review process.

8.2 A candidate is required to pass each component of the Honours programme.

8.3 The names of the successful candidates in the Honours examination shall be published in three classes.

8.4 Unless otherwise specified, the research essay/project component of the Honours programme should be 15,000 words in length.

8.5 Unless otherwise specified, any research essay component of a full-time Honours programme shall be submitted for examination by no later than 15 November of the candidate's first year of study.

8.6 A candidate shall comply with such other requirements for specific programmes as the Senate may prescribe.

FH9 Re-examination:
A candidate who fails an Honours course will not be permitted to repeat the course but may replace it with another course, provided it is not a core or compulsory course for the programme. Senate permission is required to substitute a core/compulsory course.

FH10 Concessions:
Any exemption from or modification of the above rules is subject to approval by the Senate.

Admission requirements:

3.1 Except by permission of the Senate a person shall not be admitted as a candidate for the degree unless he or she is an Honours graduate of the Faculty, or a graduate of this or another faculty or another university who holds a degree recognised by the Senate for this purpose.

3.2 The Honours degree, or its equivalent, normally shall be in the subject in which the candidate wishes to pursue his/her studies for the degree.

3.3 If the Honours degree has been taken in a combination of language subjects, a candidate may proceed to the MA degree in one of those subjects on the recommendation of the Head of the Department concerned and with the approval of the Faculty Board.

3.4 By permission of the Senate, on the recommendation of the Faculty Board and the Head of the Department concerned, a person may be admitted as a candidate for the Master’s degree after completing a three-year Bachelor’s degree. In such cases the Master’s degree shall not be awarded until at least two years after the completion of the Bachelor’s degree by virtue of which the student was accepted.

3.5 Unless otherwise specified, a candidate for the Master’s programme must achieve an average of not less than 60% in the Honours year to be accepted.

3.6 A person must comply with the admission requirements prescribed for the programmes for which he or she wishes to be admitted as a candidate.

3.7 On applying for admission to the Master’s degree by dissertation, each candidate shall submit a proposal for approval and must satisfy the Senate as to the suitability of his or her subject and the conditions under which it will be carried out.

Registration:

4.1 Minimum period

(a) Except where otherwise determined for specific degree specialisations, a candidate for the degree shall be registered as such for at least one year, provided that a candidate whom the Senate has permitted to register without an Honours degree or its equivalent, shall be registered for at least two years.

(b) In the case of the degree of Master of Fine Art, a candidate must be registered for the degree for at least two years.

4.2 Re-registration: A candidate shall obtain permission from the Faculty Board for each succeeding year of registration and must satisfy the Board that there are adequate grounds for the granting of such permission. The Board’s decision shall be based on the supervisor’s progress report.

4.3 A candidate shall not attend courses not included in the work prescribed for the degree, or write examinations other than those prescribed for the degree, except by permission of Senate.

Registration dates:

Exempt where earlier dates are set for specific specialisations (see departmental section of this handbook):

5.1 a candidate registering for the first time for the degree by dissertation only may register at any time up until 1 May;

5.2 a returning candidate for the degree by dissertation only must register by not later than the last Friday of February each year;

5.3 a candidate for the degree by coursework and dissertation must register by not later than the Friday of the week preceding the start of the academic year;

5.4 a candidate who fails to register by the required date and who is permitted to register late shall be liable for a late registration fee.
Examination:

6.1 The degree may be conferred after the acceptance of a dissertation on an approved topic embodying research under the guidance of a supervisor appointed by the Senate, or after the candidate has satisfactorily completed advanced courses of study as prescribed by the Senate, or by a combination of dissertation, advanced courses of study, and a creative and/or practical component. In all cases an oral examination may be required.

Research that involves human participants or animal use for research or teaching must undergo ethics review, according to faculty-specific guidelines. Review generally entails prior approval of a research proposal by a Research Ethics or Animal Ethics Committee. In cases where prior approval is not appropriate, the research proposal should be subjected to appropriate deliberative procedures, according to faculty-specific guidelines. Research papers or dissertations that involve human participants or animal use may not be submitted for examination if they have not undergone any ethics review process.

6.2 In the case of examination by coursework and dissertation, a candidate must obtain at least 50% for each coursework component and for the dissertation.

6.3 The dissertation

(a) must be satisfactory in arrangement and expression and must be typewritten or printed;
(b) must be prefaced by an abstract prepared according to the guidelines approved by the Senate;
(c) must show thorough practical and/or academic knowledge of the approved subject and methods of research, and evidence of independent critical power in the handling and interpretation of material already known or newly discovered;
(d) may embody such original work of others as may be pertinent;
(e) must contain correct and proper acknowledgements of all sources;
(f) may include the candidate's own published material on the same subject, if the prior permission of the Senate has been obtained;
(g) must include in the title page a signed declaration that the work has not previously been submitted in whole or in part for the award of any degree;
(h) that it is the candidate’s own work and that any contributions to and quotations in the dissertation have been cited and referenced.

6.4 Unless otherwise specified, the dissertation component of a coursework Master’s degree shall be not more than 25,000 words in length, while that of a research Master’s degree shall be not more than 50,000 words in length.

6.5 A candidate shall comply with such other requirements for specific specialisations as the Senate may prescribe.

6.6 A candidate shall not be permitted to graduate until any corrections and alterations required by the Senate have been made to the copy of the dissertation, plus a read-only version on compact disc.

6.7 Unless otherwise specified, the Master’s degree will be awarded with distinction if the candidate obtains an overall average mark of 75% or higher and not less than 70% for any component of the degree.

6.8 A candidate whose dissertation is failed will not be allowed to present him/herself as a candidate for the Master’s degree again for the examination in the same field of study, but may, with the permission of Senate, be admitted to another field of study.

6.9 A candidate who fails a Masters course will not be permitted to repeat the course but may replace it with another course, provided it is not a core or compulsory course for the programme. Senate permission is required to Substitute a core/compulsory course.

FM7 Submission of dissertation:
7.1 Notice of intention to submit a dissertation shall be given in writing to the Faculty Office not later than 15 February for possible graduation in June, and 15 July for possible graduation in December.
7.2 The University does not undertake to reach a decision on the award of the degree by any specific date.
7.3 Except where otherwise determined for a specific specialisation, the dissertation must be submitted to the Faculty Office by the start of 2nd quarter for possible graduation in June, and by not later than the start of 4th quarter for possible graduation in December.
7.4 Except where otherwise determined for a specific specialisation, a candidate shall submit three copies of the dissertation, in temporary binding plus a read-only version on compact disc. Should additional examiners be appointed, extra copies of the dissertation will be required.
7.5 No dissertation, or part thereof, which has previously been submitted for examination for any degree at any university, may be submitted for, or may be accepted for a Master’s degree in the Faculty.

FM8 Declaration:
8.1 The dissertation must be accompanied by an undertaking in writing, signed by the candidate, empowering the University to reproduce for the purpose of research either the whole or any portion of the contents in any manner whatsoever, unless this requirement is waived by the Senate.
8.2 In the case of the Creative Writing specialisation, the dissertation must be accompanied by an undertaking in writing, signed by the candidate, empowering the University to publish the work in whole or in part in any format the University deems fit, on the understanding that:
(a) the University will not publish or reproduce any part of the dissertation that has been published by the candidate, while it is in print, other than by placing a copy of the work in UCT libraries;
(b) the University will not publish or reproduce the creative work that forms part of the dissertation without consulting the candidate (or the candidate’s literary executor) and will not publish or reproduce this if firm arrangements have been made to publish this within twelve months of the date on which the University approached the candidate.

FM9 Revision of dissertation:
9.1 Except on the recommendation of the supervisor and with the approval of the Faculty Board, a candidate whose dissertation has been returned for revision must submit a revised dissertation for examination no later than one calendar year after the date of original submission. Such resubmission must comply with the submission dates set in Rule FM7 above.
9.2 No candidate shall be invited more than once to revise and resubmit his/her dissertation.

FM10 Upgrading from Master’s to PhD:
Senate may, on the recommendation of the Faculty Board and the candidate's supervisor, upgrade a candidate's registration on the grounds of the quality and development of the candidate's work.

FM11 Publication:
11.1 No publication may, without the prior permission of the University, contain a statement that the published material was or is to be submitted in part or in full for the degree.

11.2 The candidate may publish the creative work once the examination process has been completed.

Concessions:
Any exemption from or modification of the above rules shall be subject to the Senate's approval.

Doctoral degrees

Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)

The PhD is a research degree on an advanced topic under supervision which can be taken in any of the Departments in the Faculty. Examination is by thesis alone. It is subject to the general rules for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy as published in Handbook No 3, and to the following Faculty rules. Prospective candidates should consult the Head of the Department concerned to discuss both the topic and the availability of suitable supervision, and also contact the Faculty Office for details of the application procedure.

FDA1 A candidate who is permitted to register for the degree without submission of an approved research proposal is required to submit this approved research proposal to the Faculty Board by no later than six months from the date of his/her first registration.

Research that involves human participants or animal use for research or teaching must undergo ethics review, according to faculty-specific guidelines. Review generally entails prior approval of a research proposal by a Research Ethics or Animal Ethics Committee. In cases where prior approval is not appropriate, the research proposal should be subjected to appropriate deliberative procedures, according to faculty-specific guidelines. Research papers or dissertations that involve human participants or animal use may not be submitted for examination if they have not undergone any ethics review process.

FDA2 If the Faculty Board approves the research proposal, the Board shall recommend the candidate for registration to the University's Doctoral Degrees Board.

FDA3 If a candidate fails to submit a research proposal by not later than six months from the date of his/her first registration, or if the Faculty Board rejects the research proposal, the candidate's registration shall be cancelled.

FDA4 A candidate registering for the first time for the degree may register at any time up until 1 May.

FDA5 A returning candidate shall register by not later than 28 February each year.

FDA6 Except by permission of Senate, the thesis submitted for the degree shall not be less than 40,000 words (in the case of a thesis incorporating creative work) or exceed 80,000 words.

In the case of a thesis incorporating the candidate’s original creative work:

(a) the creative work itself must be the equivalent of a significant and coherent major solo exhibition;

(b) in the field of Music, the creative work may comprise a portfolio of original musical compositions or practical performance/s which, together with the written part, form(s) a coherent whole;

(c) in Fine Art, the creative work may comprise an original portfolio, installation or other audio-visual display which together with the written part forms a coherent whole;
(d) in Drama and Theatre Studies and Dance, the creative work may comprise an original performance or set of performances or a portfolio of practice which together with the written part forms a coherent whole.

Doctor of Music (DMus)

DMus by Composition and Thesis

DMus by Performance and Thesis

See SA College of Music entry on page 295 for programme rules.

MA/MSocSc specialising in Social Anthropology (192 NQF credits)

Convener: Professor F C Ross

This specialisation aims to enable students to develop a comprehensive grasp of the discipline of social-cultural anthropology, its present approaches and theories as well as its theoretical and ethnographic roots. The specialisation is structured around a series of taught courses and seminars preparing candidates for professional entry into the discipline in both teaching and research positions. Its focus is on both the history of, and cutting-edge work in the discipline. Graduates will be proficient in a range of theory and familiar with an extensive body of ethnography - with a strong comparative focus on Africa. They will also have developed strong critical social-cultural research skills that can be applied in a wide range of areas.

AXL4104F GENDER, PEACE AND JUSTICE
Class number 6166
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr H Scanlon

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: The development of peace-building initiatives in Africa has been mirrored by the expansion of various models of transitional justice. These encompass a range of judicial and non-judicial approaches adopted by post-conflict societies to address human rights abuses of the past such as war crimes tribunals and truth and reconciliation commissions. Despite increased attention by the international human rights community to the gender dimension of violations perpetrated during conflict, women’s experiences have generally received inadequate attention in transitional justice processes. Neglecting gendered patterns of abuse ultimately affects both women and men in their access to justice. This course will explore the evolution of transitional justice mechanisms in Africa and will analyse their successes and failure in addressing gender-based human rights violations.

DP requirements: None
Assessment: Two essays 60%; two response papers 20%; course participation 10%; group presentation 10%.

AXL4203F  PUBLIC CULTURE IN AFRICA

Class number 11106
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor N Shepherd

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: This course will explore issues in public culture as they affect Africa in a global context.
context. As you move through the seminars you will see, through detailed examples, how public culture is shaped, and how the public expression of identity and difference is played out in spaces and buildings, heritage, music and literature. This will necessarily be an interdisciplinary journey, making use of the evidence from archaeology and history, architecture, literature and cultural studies. By the end of the semester we will have ranged from the archaeology of pre-colonial Africa to the public culture of the Internet, and across a variety of theoretical perspectives on culture.

The course falls into two parts, which are run together in practice. On the one hand, it takes the form of an engagement with theory. Through considering a few key texts, we will see how theory provides "tools to think with", allowing us to move between general propositions and real-world examples to probe the underlying structure of the world around us.

On the other hand, students who take this course will develop a specific set of skills which will stand them in good stead in the worlds of film and media practice, heritage practice, business and advertising, and so on. In the course "Public Culture in Africa" we are specifically interested in the range of skills required in the conceptual planning and development of projects, in the phase preceding final production. In particular, we are interested in developing historically- and theoretically-informed, reflexive understandings of culture and identity, in the context of a range of heritage and media practices. What we offer is a unique convergence of theory and practice, around a number of key sites of identity and contestation: "race", "public culture", "African-ness", and the like.

DP requirements: Attendance at seminars is compulsory, failing which students’ papers may not be marked.

Assessment: Two essays (25% each) 50%; major project 50%.

AXL4204F PUBLIC CULTURE INTERNSHIP

A student intern is attached to a library, archive, gallery, museum or other institution of public culture, actively researching an aspect of public culture practice. Students work under the close supervision of a member of staff in the institution and a member of the academic staff in the African Studies Unit attached to the Heritage and Public Culture programme.

DP requirements: Attendance at seminars is compulsory, failing which students’ papers may not be marked.

Assessment: Major project: 50%, Research proposal: 10%, Additional material: 40%

AXL4205S THE AFRICAN STUDIES ARCHIVE

Class number: 11108

NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8

Convener: Associate Professor N Shepherd

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: In this course we take a close look at some of the key collections in the Manuscripts and Archives division of the University of Cape Town Library, and at some of the bodies of scholarly work to which they have given rise. As one of the oldest university archives in Southern African the collections speak – in image and text – of the formation of a range of discipline-based knowledges dealing with Africa. On the one hand, this takes the form of the emergence, formalization and institutionalization of a range of collecting and recording practices, fieldwork methodologies and the like. On the other hand, it takes the form of the emergence of various disciplinary discourses and their associated “objects” and “fields”. The key source of insight in the course lies in exploring how these different objects and fields are not natural or given, but have been formed and constructed in relation to specific social contexts and intellectual histories. Significant collections examined in this course include the Bleek/Lloyd collection, the Goodwin Collection and the Hahn Collection. Particular emphasis is placed on the many hundreds of photographic images that form part of these collections as a point of entry into larger disciplinary debates and concerns.

DP requirements: Attendance at seminars is compulsory, failing which students’ papers may not be marked.

Assessment: Two essays (25% each) 50%; major project 50%.

AXL4206S DECOLONIAL THEORY

Class number 7713
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor N Shepherd

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: This course is intended to give an introduction to the growing body of thought coming out of Latin America under the heading of decolonial theory, exemplified in the work of scholars like Walter Mignolo, Arturo Escobar, Enrique Dussel, Santiago Castro-Gomez, Nelson Maldonado-Torres, Anibal Quijano, and others. This work has been significant in framing an approach to questions of knowledge, coloniality and globalization. At its most ambitious, it attempts to re-write the script of modernity (as colonial modernity). In a more immediate way, it provides a rich set of conceptual resources through which to re-think a familiar set of issues.

The course will take a key word approach, and is divided into two-week blocks. Each block will be given to a new set of key words or concepts and the readings that introduce and discuss them. Key words and concepts include:

- Coloniality (of power/ knowledge/ being)
- Geopolitics of knowledge
- Colonial globality and global designs

A way in for us will be the notion of reading decolonial theory from the Cape: How does a body of thought which frames a critique based on South American/ Latin American historical experiences translate to African contexts of practice? How does it speak to the particularity of histories of knowledge production and colonial engagement in the Cape? How does this body of work connect with contemporary debates in the field of African Studies, which address questions of knowledge and epistemology?

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and attendance at all seminars.

Assessment: Coursework 50%; exam 50%.

AXL5012F RESEARCHING BEYOND BORDERS

Class number 6375
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Professor F Nyamnjoh

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: This course explores approaches to research which, while engaged with texts, imagine the creation of knowledge as a dynamic in which questions of space, ground, collectivities, language and the body intersect in difficult tensions of what can – and cannot – be represented within our own work as researchers. Drawing from the disciplinary and research interests of the course conveners, the course will look at contemporary theory on questions of ‘ground’ (actual ground sites of burial, dispossession, building, and memory, and the ‘ground’ of epistemological assumption), ‘identities’ (those created through digital communication, those created through migration, those imagined through political coercion or consensus), and the ‘body’ (the technological body, the sexual body, the violated body, bodies of knowledge and creativity). Through the discussions opened by what will become an interdisciplinary conversation, we will ask questions about the methodological strategies which might help us imagine ‘research’ beyond the boundaries of qualitative approaches with we are already familiar.

DP requirements: Attendance at seminars is compulsory, failing which students’ papers may not be marked.

Assessment: Seminars (20% & 15%); essay (15%); long paper (50%).

AXL5408S TRADITION, SCIENCE AND ENVIRONMENT
Class number 7758
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Associate Professor L J F Green

Course entry requirements: Permission of Head of Section.

Course outline: Conflicts over knowledge and “nature” are notoriously difficult to resolve, notably when different versions of nature are at issue. The issue is central to current debates in science studies, led by Isabelle Stengers, Bruno Latour, and Michel Serres (among others), in literatures that contest the modernist dualism of nature and culture. Variously named ‘the post-humanities’, ‘the new materialities’, ‘relational ontologies’ and ‘the slow science movement’, these approaches intersect in intriguing ways with contributions to public debate from indigenous movements, and post-colonial and decolonial research and writing in Latin America, Australia and New Zealand, India, and Southern Africa. The course explores these approaches in the unstable terrain where state, science, publics and capital meet. The focus is on on-going contestations over the knowledge base of environmental governance, conservation sciences, environmental law, biodiversity protocols, climate research and social theory.

DP requirements: Submission of all prescribed assignments; satisfactory attendance and participation in coursework seminars.

The brief remains focused on providing a critical comparative perspective between Southern Africa, Africa, and the globalizing world. The mission remains urgent, given the longstanding and continuing dominance of Western models and discourses. The Centre houses research projects, publishes a journal, organizes a range of seminars, conferences, and talks, and runs a gallery open to a wide variety of cultural performances whose mission it is to promote African Studies.

Television Production

Convener: Professor M Fleishman

The specialisation in Television Production is an integrated two-year full-time degree specialisation by coursework and research. The first year consists of the BA Honours specialising in Television Drama in the Centre for Film and Media Studies. The second year consists of the MA in Television Production in the Drama Department. The specialisation is concerned with the integration of theory and practice: theory is embedded in practice, practice informed by theory. Moreover, the coursework is intended to equip director/writers for television production, with particular emphasis on dramatic genres, as well as exposing them to a range of production skills so as to make them employable in the television production industry. Both the coursework and the research provide a base for further specialised study, developing research skills and a sense of inquiry to contribute to theorized practice in the area of study. The specialisation emphasises full time, professionally and artistically orientated study with a strong research focus.

Class number 2659
NQF credits: 16 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor M Keswell
Course entry requirements: See admissions requirements for Honours in Economics.
Course outline: The course studies the principal macroeconomic approaches towards understanding short-run fluctuations in aggregate output and the longer-term determinants of macroeconomic performance. Business cycles are investigated from a traditional Keynesian and New Keynesian perspective, complemented by a discussion on monetary and fiscal policy options.
For understanding economic growth, the course reviews the basic Solow growth model as well as new growth theories. Infinite-horizon and overlapping-generations models introduce two important modern approaches to modelling economic growth.

Class number 2660

NQF credits: 16 at HEQSF level 8

Convener: Associate Professor M Keswell

Course entry requirements: See admissions requirements for Honours in Economics.

ECO4026S  ECONOMY AND ITS FINANCIAL MARKETS
Class number 3517
NQF credits: 14 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor M Keswell
Course entry requirements: See admissions requirements for Honours in Economics.
Course outline: This course is designed to help students appreciate the relationship between the economy and its financial markets so that they may better understand how the economy works how financial markets behave and how they work and interact with each other. The programme is aimed at developing a feel for the rationality of ‘the market’ and the often discordant sounds and rhythms of financial markets. We hope to develop a stronger sense of how the financial market anticipate and influence economic policy. We will interact with the data on the economy and the markets using Eviews with which students should be familiar. We will use regression analysis and other econometric techniques to build and analyse models of the economy and the financial markets. As a result students will be expected to become more perceptive analysts of published financial data and economic events and of the role played by financial markets in promoting economic development.
DP requirements: None.
Assessment: Coursework 50%; examination 50%.

ECO4029S EXPERIMENTS IN ECONOMICS

Class number 3712
NQF credits: 14 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor M Keswell

Course entry requirements: See admissions requirements for Honours in Economics.

Course outline: This course focuses on experiments in economics, including laboratory and field experiments, as well as randomised experiments and natural experiments. As such, this course will be of interest to students interested in behavioural economics, institutions and development. The first part of the course provides an overview of economic experiments, especially those that explore the role of fairness, generosity, trust and reciprocity in economic transactions. Are humans fair? Why do we often willingly trust strangers or cooperate with them even if those actions leave us vulnerable to exploitation? Does this natural inclination towards fairness or trust have implications in the marketplace? Traditional economic theory would perhaps think not, perceiving human interaction as self-interested at heart. There is increasing evidence, however, that social norms and norm-driven behaviours such as a preference for fairness, generosity or trust have serious implications for economics. We will look at how norm-driven behaviours can often lead to significantly different outcomes than those predicted by economic theories.

In the second part of the course, we will focus on the use of randomised experiments in development. Using many of the same design ideas embodied in lab and field experiments, randomised experiments aim to test some key ideas if the field of development economics, with the aim of improving development policy and enhancing welfare at the individual, household, community and national level. We will end the course by considering alternative evaluation options that one might rely on when randomisation is not possible.

NQF credits: 14 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor M Keswell

Course entry requirements: See admissions requirements for Honours in Economics.

It will then review the military spending and economic development debate, also considering the economics of offsets. Moving the focus to conflict, the greed and grievance debate, which brought economics to the centre of the debate over what causes and sustains civil war will be reviewed.
Finally, the particular form economies take during wars, and the problems of post conflict reconstruction and conflict management will then be considered. In all cases concrete real world examples will be introduced, with a particular focus on Africa. The research paper will allow students to focus in detail on a particular topic of interest to them.

1. Adult Education

1.1 ACE in Adult Education

Formerly Advanced Diploma for Educators of Adults

Not offered in 2014

Convener: Dr S Ismail.

Introduction:

This specialisation is not offered by correspondence. Participants need to be resident in the Cape Town area and able to attend all the classes.

The scope of Adult Education:
The range of work done by educators of adults is very wide. It includes development projects, workplace training, teaching in tertiary institutions, adult basic education and training (including literacy), teaching at adult education centres, art colleges, human resource development, health education, religious education, further education and training colleges, and educational programmes based in libraries and museums. An adult educator is any person with a responsibility for helping adults to learn, whether in formal or non-formal situations.

General aims of the course:
The course aims:
(1) to develop a theoretical grasp of educational practice. This includes the purposes and contexts of adult education, particularly in a South African setting;
(2) to develop knowledge and skills that will enable students to enhance their own learning and their practice in adult education;
(3) to provide the opportunity for students to build a curriculum most suited to their needs and interests.

Admission requirements:
A candidate is required to be:
(a) A graduate of this University or of another university recognised by Senate;
OR
(b) A person who holds a full-time, three-year post-Matriculation qualification approved by Senate for the purpose;
OR
(c) A graduate of the Diploma in Education of this University;
OR
(d) A person who by means of such assessment as may be prescribed by the Faculty Board satisfies Senate that he or she has attained a level of competence which, in Senate's opinion, is adequate for admission to the programme.

Times of classes:
Classes will be held on Wednesdays during University terms from 15h00-18h00, or at any other time determined by the Department. Additional Saturday workshops may be required, but no more than 3 per year.

The two-year programme:

Year 1 aims to enable students to grasp the discourses and practices that have shaped processes of adult learning, which in turn have structured the broad field of adult education. It will provide students with theoretical frameworks with which to view adult education practices to enable them to describe, analyse, assess and redesign these practices (where appropriate). A further aim is to enable students to increase their specialised roles in education, training and development, through building a broader repertoire of professional skills for work in the changing context provided by new policy frameworks.

Year 2 starts with a focus on theories which attempt to explain shifts in the organisation of learning and society, followed by contextual study in a site of practice with some degree of specialisation according to choice. The second semester provides a focus on research, with an introduction to evaluative research, followed by project-based research work which returns to aspects of professional practice.

2. Continuing Professional Teacher Development

These ACE specialisations are offered in response to demand by the Western Cape and/or national Departments of Education only. Please note that this means that applicants must normally be selected by the Western Cape Education Department (but may apply individually) in order to register for them and that they are not offered when there is no demand for them.

Admission:
The specialisations are intended for in-service primary and secondary school teachers who hold an M+3 qualification. They are intended to upgrade their subject teaching and professional competence.

Except in the case of the ACE (Education Management and Leadership Development [School Leadership]), a person shall not be admitted as a candidate for the certificate unless he/she has:

- an approved three-year Teacher's Certificate or Diploma in the phase for which the ACE is offered (for General Education and Training), or the subject for which the ACE is offered, where appropriate (for Further Education and Training);

AND

- at least three years approved teaching experience.

2.1 ACE in Education Management and Leadership Development

Convener: J D Gilmour

This specialisation is a professional programme based on a national curriculum developed by the Directorate: Education Management and Governance Development (EMGD) in the Department of Basic Education and is intended for practicing and aspirant principals. It is a workplace based specialisation. This impacts on the mode of delivery, the assessment methodology, and the degree of site-based assessment and support which is offered. Broadly, the specialisation aims to:

- empower/enable aspirant and practicing principals to develop the skills, knowledge, and values needed to lead and manage schools effectively and contribute to improving the delivery of education across the school system,

- provide current principals with a formal professional qualification which is career related and,

- provide an entry criterion to principalship.

The specialisation further aims to achieve the following:

- provide leadership and management to enable the school to give every learner quality education through professional leadership and management of the curriculum and resources,

- strengthen and support the role of principalship and develop principals who are able to critically engage and be self-reflective practitioners, and enable principals to manage their schools as learning organisations and to instil values supporting transformation in the South African context.

Criteria for admission are as follows:

(a) Priority is given to practicing principals identified by provincial departments of education or other agreed methods.
(b) Candidates must have a formal professional teacher qualification at REQV level 14. In the case of candidates who are school principals, a formal professional teacher qualification at REQV level 13 is acceptable.
(c) Have at least 3 years teaching experience.
(d) Be employed at Post Level 2 and upwards.
(e) Female educators will be given preference to address the gender equity profile in school management in the education system.
(f) Post Level 1 educators performing management tasks at P1 and P2 schools, will be considered. Their applications should be supported by a written statement, endorsed by the principal, school governing body or district official.
(g) The principal and/or school governing body should endorse all applications. Where this may not be possible candidates have the right to appeal to the appropriate/relevant accounting officer in the system.

ELL4034F   LITERARY NON-FICTION IN AFRICA
(Not offered in 2014)
NQF CREDITS: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr H Twiddle
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: In this course we will read an array of acclaimed texts from post-apartheid South Africa which can be loosely grouped under the label ‘literary non-fiction’. In doing so, we will investigate what the literary might come to mean in this (ostensibly ‘factual’ or documentary) context, and how various non-fictional modes/genres are simultaneously drawn on, refashioned and blurred into each other: investigative journalism, the prison memoir, the diary, life-writing, oral history, archival reconstruction, urban studies. At the same time, we will place these local texts in dialogue with similar, generically unstable works from the rest of the world. Primary texts: Amitav Ghosh, In an Antique Land, (1992); Antjie Krog, Country of my Skull, (1998); WG Sebald, The Rings of Saturn, (2002); Jonny Steinberg, The Number, (2004); Henk van Woerden, A Mouthful of Glass, (2001); Ivan Vladislavic, Portrait with Keys, (2006)
DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: One researched class presentation + accompanying essay (2,000 words) – 30% of mark
One annotated research bibliography (1,000 words) – 20% of mark
One research essay (5,000 words) – 50% of mark

ELL4035S   STUDIES IN THE MODERN NOVEL
Class number 7369
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr E Strand
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: This course will give students an overview of the twentieth-century novel by pursuing the theme of travel. The study of travel narratives has become a central field of literary criticism over the past three decades, closely paralleling the rise of critical theory and postcolonial criticism, since travel involves intercultural encounters and the exploration of alternative models of selfhood. We will focus in particular upon American novels, asking whether American travel narratives differ significantly from European ones. American writers often have a dual consciousness, since they are both imperialistic, and members of a postcolonial nation.
DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Class participation (including reading test): 10% of mark
One researched class presentation: 10% of mark
Accompanying essay (3,000 words): 30% of mark
One research essay (5,000 words): 50% of mark

Course outline: Literature and Language Studies II: Debates in African Literature: A Chronological Mapping of the Intellectual Field. This course offers an intellectual history of literature, both within South Africa and beyond our borders. It develops both a chronological sense of the literature as well as an understanding of some of the major debates and issues within the field including African literary theory and the self-conscious fine-tuning of methodologies for studying African Writing.
DP requirements: Attendance at all seminars and submission of all written work.
Assessment: Two essays, each of 5,000 words, and each counting 50% of the total mark. One essay should be on the South African section and the other essay on the other parts of Africa covered in the course.

ELL4063H DIRECTED READING IN ENGLISH
Class number 4333
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Conveners: Dr H Twidle
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: This workshop is dedicated to exploring the essay as a creative, critical and narrative form. We will move from the letters of Seneca the Younger and Sei Shonagon’s ‘Pillow Book’ of tenth-century Japan, via ‘the father of the essay’ Montaigne and British Romantics like Hazlitt and De Quincey to the 21st century. We will consider how a critical intelligence takes form in the work of writers like Chinua Achebe, James Baldwin, Roland Barthes, Walter Benjamin, John Berger, Jorge Luis Borges, Jamaica Kincaid, Primo Levi, Janet Malcolm, Czesław Miłosz, Njabulo Ndebele, Lewis Nkosi, George Orwell, Edward Said, W.G. Sebald, Zadie Smith, Susan Sontag, David Foster Wallace, Ivan Vladislavic, Alice Walker and Virginia Woolf.
This is writing-intensive seminar for both ‘academic’ and ‘creative’ writers – a division that we will try to unravel in interesting ways. Weekly meetings will take place during the second semester. Each week we will read a short piece, and write a short piece. A range of exercises will emerge out of our reading, as we use contemporary essays and short-form non-fiction to generate our own writing tasks and literary ‘field work’ in the wider city. These weekly texts will then be edited into a full portfolio. No book purchases are required for this elective: all excerpts and essays will be provided via a course reader and/or VULA.
DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Final portfolio comprised of weekly written assignments (50%) and one final long essay of 5,000 words (50%)

ELL4068S STUDIES IN GENRE AND PERIOD
Class number 6924
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr P Anderson
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: Critical approaches to literature begin with the study of literary forms, their operation and development. This core component offers a detailed inquiry into the three major genres of English literature, each representative of one or other substantial period in the history of the literature. In 2011 four seminars each are offered in the novel, drama and poetry.
DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Participation 20%; presentation, 20%; final paper of 4,000 words 60%.
ELL4069S EARLY MODERN LITERATURE
Class number 10605
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Conveners: Dr D Higginbotham and Dr S Young

Course entry requirements: This seminar seeks to shift the lines of inquiry into Shakespeare’s ongoing cultural life across the global South by examining histories, scholarship, performance and adaptations of Shakespeare and his contemporaries within Africa, the Caribbean, the Indian Ocean, Latin America and North America. We will consider what happens when early modern drama travels to locations beyond England and how these works are transformed by these encounters. We will examine how Shakespeare and his contemporaries represent southern locations, specifically Africa, India, and Indonesia, just as England becomes engaged with the complex network of overseas trade spanning the globe. We will remain attuned to our own location and that of our material, in the hope of generating new perspectives on Shakespeare’s cultural life across the global South and extending the familiar paradigms of postcolonial studies.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Assessment is based on three kinds of assignments: (1) Two written reflections in response to question sheets, each 1,000 words (total 25%) (2) Two written analyses of historical documents pertinent to the study of overseas trade in the early modern period (total 25%) (3) An independently researched final essay of 4,000 words (50%).

ELL4070S DECONSTRUCTION AND AESTHETICS
Class number 6923
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Conveners: Professor J Higgins

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: The aim of this seminar will be to examine a range of arguments around the idea of the limits of representation in the Western tradition, focusing on key debates between different thinkers. We shall begin by setting against each other Plato’s arguments on art in the Republic with those in its modern ‘translation’ by Alain Badiou. Other pairings will include: John Locke and William Wordsworth on the association of ideas; Kant and Lyotard on the sublime; Zola, Breton and Lukács on realism and surrealism; Freud and Wittgenstein on dream interpretation; and Godard and Adorno on montage.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Question Sheets 25%; presentation 25%; final exam 50%.

ELL4074S CURRENT THOUGHTS IN BLACK AFRICAN LITERATURE
Class number 7016
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Conveners: Dr V Collis-Buthelezi

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: The term ‘diaspora’ emerged as the term of reference for those peoples of African descent resident outside of Africa in the 1950s as most of Europe’s colonies hurtled toward nation formation. Widely used to identify the survivors of the transatlantic slave trade and their descendants, diaspora, in the case of Africa, came to signal both the connection to Africa and the impermeable difference between those remade by slavery in the ‘New World’ and those who endured colonialism on the continent. This course grapples with the term as one in crisis and instability, constituted and reconstituted not only in relation to yearnings for home(land) but also empire. We will trouble some of the narratives we tell about African and African diasporic literary traditions in relation to empire and nation. Some of these traditions will include, but are not limited to: Ethiopianism, the Harlem Renaissance, Negritude, and Pan-Africanism. We will read slave narratives, novels, poetry, short stories, as well as polemical and theoretical texts.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Two class essays, counting 50% of the final grade. Each essay about 4,000 words.

ELL5000S PROBLEMS OF TEXTUALITY
(Not offered in 2014)
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: TBA
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: In this seminar, we will examine Peter Watkins’s film – the complexity of its anti-documentary form, its connections to the lived present – in the context of a number of writings that have also framed and sought to grasp something of the Utopian moment that the Paris commune of 1871 represented. These will include the contemporary and opposed accounts of Karl Marx and of the anarchist Mikhail Bakunin; Brecht’s play, Days of the Commune; from the 1960s, the Situationist test These on the Paris Commune; and, from 2012, Alain Badiou’s essay ‘The Paris Commune: A Political Declaration’. In addition, we will seek to look at a range of contemporary writings which examine current uprisings, revolts and protests from the Arab Spring, across the Occupy Wall Street movement and Madrid’s ‘los indignos’ to current service delivery protests in South Africa. At stake in all of these: how to imagine a new social order.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Students will each need to complete 3 QSheets (question sheets) which guide them through the primary materials; and write an essay on a selected text that deals with the difficulty of representing the intolerable. QSheets = 50%; essay (3000 to 4000 words) = 50%. In addition, a draft of the essay will need to be presented at an in-class seminar workshop.

ELL5001W MINOR DISSERTATION
Class number 4336
NQF credits: 96 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: TBA
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for a Master’s programme.
Course outline: A dissertation completed under supervision which shows thorough practical and/or academic knowledge of the approved subject and methods of research, and evidence of independent critical power in the handling and interpretation of material already known or newly discovered, may embody such original work of others as may be pertinent, may include the candidate's own published material on the same subject, if the prior permission of the Senate has been obtained. The dissertation must be the candidate’s own work and any contributions to and quotations in the dissertation must be cited and referenced.

DP requirements: Consultation with Supervisor.
Assessment: A dissertation no more than 25,000 words in length.

ELL5024S CREATIVE WRITING POETRY
Class number 11409
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Professor J Hambidge
Course entry requirements: Acceptance into the MA programme with a specialisation in Creative Writing; a first degree, submission of a portfolio of Afrikaans or English poetry and after an interview with the Convener.
Course outline: Students are required to attend two-hour long workshops weekly throughout the semester. Working around their own draft poetry, the classes require students to engage with a range of poetry that exemplifies diverse forms of poetry and shows the diversity of ways that a poetic mode can be used; and texts that explain how to write and re-draft poetry; critical works that analyse poetry and that demonstrate what constitutes publishable poetry and why. In addition, the course will focus on texts that demonstrate self-reflexive expository studies by poets and what is required to produce those. The course requires students to begin drafting poetry of their own and both auto-critiquing what they write and working with their peers and the lecturer in a process of mutual critique. Draft poems are thus submitted and discussed as are submissions relating to the structure and form of poetry – contemporary and historical – and how those might be drawn on to influence the poetry each student is writing. Commentary is used to help students revise and rework their poems. The course includes a range of assignments that include commentaries sent to the lecturer about poetic works that have been sent to them in the periods between workshops.

DP requirements: Attendance at all workshops.

Assessment: 50% coursework assignments; 50% examination.

ELL5025W CREATIVE WRITING DISSERTATION

Class number 4291

NQF credits: 96 at HEQSF level 9

Convener: Associate Professor I Coovadia

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for the MA specialising in Creative Writing

Course outline: A novel, a collection of stories, a piece of creative non-fiction (preferably 60,000 to 80,000 words); or a collection of preferably forty poems accompanied by a 20,000 to 25,000 word expository essay. The creative work may also take the form of a text for delivery on an electronic platform (e.g. mobifiction). The size of the work will be decided in discussion with the specialisation Convener and supervisor. While an expository essay relating to the creative work and its contextual and theoretical underpinnings is required to accompany a collection of poetry, it may, at the discretion of the supervisor and specialisation Convener, be permitted or required where the creative work is a novel, a piece of creative non-fiction or a text for delivery on an electronic platform. In cases where an expository work is part of the dissertation, the two combined will be graded as a single whole although examiners will be guided as to the relative value of each. Although it is at times inevitable that the dissertation contains seeds of work produced in ELL5027F, ELL5024S and/or SLL5002S, the dissertation has to be, in essence, original and new work.

DP requirements: Regular consultation with supervisor as per a Memorandum of Understanding agreed and signed at time of first and each subsequent registration for the course.

Assessment: Dissertation 100%.

ELL5027F CREATIVE WRITING WORKSHOP

Class number 6134

NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9

Convener: Associate Professor I Coovadia

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for the MA specialising in Creative Writing

Course outline: The workshop is a core to the creative writing programme. Its intention is to introduce students to writing as a self-conscious art, learned by doing, and to prepare them to begin their creative dissertation. It is coded as a graduate seminar and meets weekly throughout the semester. As is common practice in a creative arts programme, it is organized around discussion and improvement of student creative work rather than the transmission of knowledge, although creative writers who are invited to lead a seminar/workshop will direct discussion around particular themes. Issues of technical interest to prose writers as well as poets – like narrative point of view, the construction of scenes and dialogue, poetic metre, and authorial voice – come up in the workshop as they are raised in the practice of members of the class and of the various lecturers. At each weekly workshop the submissions of up to four class participants will be discussed critically. Each student is expected to submit a minimum of 40 pages of writing during the course of the semester. Students are thus required to perform as readers of each other’s work, to write new material of their own, and to revise their writing for later submission in response to workshop discussion.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work.

Assessment: Assessment: 25% based on participation; 75% based on writing submitted during the course.
ELL5030F LITERATURE AND MODERNITY I
Class number 5585
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Conveners: Associate Professor H Garuba and Dr S Young
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: The course is divided in two parts.
1) Issues of modernity and postcoloniality. This section of the course focuses on the self-constitution of Modernity and its Other, constructed in binary relations, such as the pre-modern, the traditional, the primitive and so on. The course explores this through the categories of Reason and Subjectivity, Time and Space, and the Normative Body and then examines the relationship between modernity, colonialism and post colonialism. This section covers the first phase of post-independence.
2) Questions of migration, gender and globalisation. In this section we reflect on what diaspora offers to a conceptualisation of Africa and consider how it complicates the dichotomy of ‘home’ versus ‘elsewhere’. How does an Africa that is ‘everywhere’ help us to rethink the familiar categories of cultural studies and how might this ‘Africa’ extend the framework of postcolonialism? We begin by examining some key theoretical texts on race, migration and gendered relations of power. In turning to the novels, we consider how diasporic writing both invokes and complicates familiar categories of identification and the systems of thought associated with ‘modernity’.

In both sections of the course we will examine critical readings in order to develop conceptual tools for reading primary texts by African writers. In other words, each part will consist of three seminars that grapple with theoretical issues, and three seminars that read specific literary texts in the light of those theoretical issues.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Two essays of 5,000 words each. One essay should cover the first part of the course and the other the second part. Attendance at seminars is compulsory, failing which students’ papers may not be marked.

ELL5031S LITERATURE AND MODERNITY II
Class number 6926
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Conveners: Dr V Collis-Buthelezi and Dr C Ouma
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: This course contemplates ‘Revolutionary Modernities’ by examining the points of intersection and divergence, between continental and diasporic African intellectuals. In his seminal 1938 text, The Black Jacobins, C. L. R. James argued that the plantation is the first instantiation of modernity and the Haitian Revolution the fullest realisation of democracy. It is often forgotten that The Black Jacobins was written as one possible vision of anti-colonial resistance in Africa. James was one of several black writers, thinkers and intellectuals whose work engaged with the economic, political and cultural circuits of western modernity and its operations in the African continent and its diasporas.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.
Assessment: Two essays of between 4,000 and 5,000 words each, each worth 50% of the final mark. Attendance at seminars is compulsory, failing which students’ papers may not be marked.

ELL5032F THEORIES AND HISTORIES OF MODERNITY
Class number 5586
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Conveners: Dr S Young
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: This course investigates the concept of Modernity from the Renaissance, through the Enlightenment to the Romantic period. The object of the course is to develop a sense of the historical development of Modernity and to consider its impact on knowledge, subjectivity, literature and politics.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.

Assessment: Two essays of between 4,000 and 5,000 words each, each worth 50% of the final mark. One essay should cover the first six seminars and the other the second six.

ELL5033H DIRECTED READING PROJECT: SPECIAL SUBJECT: J M COETZEE
Class number 4337
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Conveners: Professor C Clarkson

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme; agreement of supervisor and Convener prior to registration.

Course outline: This is a high-level postgraduate first-semester seminar on the writing of J M Coetzee; our discussions open up onto related world literatures, and other critical and philosophical works. In 2014, we will be paying particular attention to questions of biography and autobiography: this follows the publication of Coetzee’s most recent book to date, Summertime (the last in a trilogy of fictional autobiographies), and the first biography of Coetzee by John Kannemeyer, written in Afrikaans, with an English translation by Michiel Heyns.

The formal coursework assignments, while meeting departmental requirements, are designed to take postgraduate research to the next level in ways that will enhance each student’s professional academic profile. The assignment for the first term is a short book review of 2000 words (this could be a review of a work by Coetzee, or it could be a review of a recent book in Coetzee scholarship). The assignment for the end of the second term is to write a journal article, with a specific journal in mind, and the real possibility of publishing the essay in the chosen journal. The journal you choose could be Postamble-the UCT postgraduate e-journal, but your ambitions may well be higher: Current Writing, The Journal of Literary Studies ... (in South Africa), or abroad: The Journal of Commonwealth Literature, Safundi, Researches in African Literature ...

The expectation is that students will research the journals themselves and get a good sense of current debates. Assignments will not simply be written for a grade, but will be sent off for possible publication. This will actively assist each student in taking his or her work to a professional level.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.

Assessment: Book review (2,000 words): 50%
Journal article (5,000 to 6,000 words): 50%

ELL5040S THEORIES OF REPRESENTATION
(Not offered in 2014)
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Dr S Young

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: This course investigates the ways in which language comes up against limits when attempting to represent trauma or ‘unspeakable’ pain. Trauma theorists are occupied with the paradoxical ways in which traumatic experiences seem to defy representation, while simultaneously calling for testimony, telling and story. We will read some of the literature that wrestles with this paradox, both fiction and non-fiction, and will reflect critically on the idea that testimonial literature – literature that bears witness to trauma – facilitates ‘healing’, specifically in relation to Holocaust, Apartheid and slave narratives.

DP requirements: Submission of all written work and at least 75% of seminar attendance.

Assessment: 3 written reflections in response to question sheets, each 1,000 words, total 50%; Final essay (3,000-4,000 words) 50%.

Class number 8726
NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor M Ramutsindela

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: In this course we analyse how nature has been used as a source of informal and formal power (politics). Profound changes in such power structures led to the quest for property... regimes and institutions that are more appropriate for the defence of nature. Against this background, we discuss how capitalist interests, as encoded in private property regimes and attendant ecotourism ventures, have gained an upper hand in nature conservation. Furthermore, those interests have expanded beyond narrow property regimes to embrace bioregionalism, hence the revival of transfrontier conservation areas (TFCAs) as a model for conservation in the 21st century. All these are captured in the various topics covered in this course.

DP requirements: At least 80% attendance record and submission of all assignments.

Assessment: Assignments 60%; examination 40%.

Class number 8600
NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Professor M Meadows
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for Honours or Master’s specialising in EGS.

Course outline: Globalization is a complex of processes influencing the interplay between environment and development. These processes manifest themselves in diverse ways, but southern Africa, with its diversity of natural environment settings and range of human development characteristics, represents an ideal laboratory in which to study this interplay. The course is founded on an understanding of relevant theory and its application to a number of case studies including, inter alia, the political, economic, social, cultural and biophysical background to globalization in the region, conservation and its impacts on local communities; environmental degradation; agriculture and globalization; urban development and nature conservation. These case studies are illustrated in relation to both the relevant literature and to direct experience through fieldwork.

DP requirements: At least 80% attendance record and submission of all assignments.
Assessment: Assignments 65%; examination 35%.

Convener: Professor S Parnell
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for Honours or Master’s specialising in EGS.
Course outline: The aim of the course is to understand the structural basis of the contemporary South African city through an understanding of the urban past. The course surveys the secondary literature on the major social, legal and historical events that shaped the segregated form of the South African city in the twentieth century. The seminar component is divided between the period shaping the apartheid city form and its demise. An independent essay and reading exercise enables students to focus on post-apartheid issues.

Convener: Dr L Nathan
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for Honours or Master’s specialising in EGS.
Course outline: Conflict is a normal and ubiquitous social phenomenon. It is not inherently negative but in particular circumstances it can be extremely destructive and can lead to violence. This course will explore theoretical perspectives on conflict; an analytical framework for understanding the dynamics and causes of deep-rooted conflict; and mediation as a strategy for resolving conflict. Class number 8600
NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Professor B Hewitson
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for Honours or Master’s specialising in EGS.
Course outline: Climate change complexities are often masked by the simple global scale of response to anthropogenic forcing. The coupled nature of the physical-social systems, combined with the inherent chaotic nature of the climate and necessity of probabilistic predictive techniques, require new methods and conceptual framework in order to bring pragmatic relevance in the predictive mode. This course explores the theory related to the question of predictability, cross-scale relationships and feedbacks in the climate system, the tools and techniques of prediction, and the translation of predictions into the user community. There are three sections: climate change theory and projections; seasonal forecasting and predictions; vulnerability and impacts. Course participants will engage with operational seasonal forecasting undertaken by CSAG members.
DP requirements: At least 80% attendance record and submission of all assignments.
Assessment: Assignments 100%.

Class number 8602
NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: TBA
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for Honours or Master’s specialising in EGS.

EGS4043S LIVING WITH GLOBAL CHANGE
Class number 8940
NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr G Ziervogel

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for Honours or Master’s specialising in EGS.

Course outline: This course aims to ground students in the core theoretical, policy and practice debates on global environmental change. Climate change adaptation will be explored as a means for responding to environmental change, at the local, national and international scale and from the perspective of individuals, organisations and government. Adaptation will be contextualised within the international climate policy arena and greenhouse gas mitigation responses. The communication of climate science and the frameworks for integrating this information into risk management will be another central theme.

Throughout the course there will be a focus on how science links to development and policy, demonstrated through case study examples, at the same time as placing global environmental change in its wider current, social/political/economic context. Students will gain experience in difference methods for assessing vulnerability and social impacts and developing risk communication and adaptation strategies.

DP requirements: At least 80% attendance record and submission of all assignments.

Assessment: Assignments 60%; examination 40%.
EGS4048S ALTERNATIVE ECONOMIES

Convener: Dr S Daya

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for Honours or Master’s specialising in EGS.
Course outline: EGS4048S introduces students to geographical debates about alternative economies, especially in light of the ‘cultural turn’ in economic geography. We consider the social values that underpin various economic activities, paying particular attention to questions of inclusion, morality, solidarity and wellbeing. Through theories and case studies of alternative economies, including cooperatives, social enterprises, and ‘green’ businesses, we develop an understanding of the values that drive different economies, and think about possibilities for economic intervention and transformation. The course has a strong emphasis on theory, which is complemented by fieldtrips and an independent research project.

DP Requirements: At least 80% attendance record and submission of all assignments.
Assessment: Assignments 50%; examination 50%.

Course outline: The scholarly interest in adaptation, especially filmic adaptation of fiction, has grown exponentially over recent years, although the practice of this form of adaptation is as old as film itself. The aim of the course is to build on the theoretical insights of a range of scholars and to apply these insights to the analysis of a variety of case studies, e.g. adaptations from prose fiction, plays, biography and the city to film. Use will be made of theories of authorship, authority and authenticity, origin, copy, intertextuality and genre. Consideration will, crucially, be given to the changing historical, cultural and aesthetic contexts within which the texts were produced.

FAM4036S FILM AND THE ENVIRONMENT
Class number 7153
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr I-M Rijsdijk

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: This course examines several debates concerning the representation of the natural environment in film, particularly narrative film. Taking the ecocritical debate that has grown in scope and intensity in literary criticism since the early 1980s as a departure point, the course will investigate the value of this discourse and its applicability to films that either explicitly or implicitly use the natural environment as a key component of the film narrative.

Equally important is the analysis of the films in terms of film language, and the extent to which film produces original representations of environmental debates that characterize the current age. In this second aspect of the course lies the history of the natural environment in film (its place in well-established and popular genres like the Western and Science Fiction, for example), as well as the representation of people in relation to the nonhuman environment. The course will involve a voluntary field trip which will provide an experience of the debate between Cronon and Hays (in week 1), between writers on environment and “wilderness devotees”.

DP requirements: All work must be submitted, 75% attendance.

Assessment: Seminar presentation 20%; short paper (2,500 words) 30%; long paper (4,000 words) 50%.

FAM4037F  APPROACHES TO FILM & TV

Class number 6363
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr A J Smit
Course entry requirements: Acceptance into Honours in Film and TV Studies or by permission of the convener.

Course outline: The course aims to explore several currents in film and television theory, paying special attention to the examination of the tension between past and present, absence and presence, the shifting fluidity of performance, the instability of the self, the evacuation of space, time and identity that finds paradoxical expression in the fullness and richness of the image, itself caught in the paradox of simultaneous absence and presence, illusion and authenticity.

Using a range of major theoretical insights, we shall engage with texts that offer opportunities to examine their own identifiable aesthetic, generic, ideological and spectatorial concerns including the differences generated by medium specificity, but also share thematic interests in Gothicism, horror, the collapse of boundaries between self and world, self and other, self and representation, as well as in dream worlds and the unconscious.

DP requirements: Attendance at all classes; punctual submission of all written work.

Assessment: One class presentation of 2000 words (20%); two essays of 4000 words each (40% each).

---

FAM4038F  AUTHORSHIP IN THE CINEMA

Class number 6364
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor M Botha
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: The course will comprise an in-depth discussion on authorship and the great auteurs in film history such as Ingmar Bergman, Andrei Tarkovsky, Federico Fellini, Michelangelo Antonioni, Theo Angelopoulos, among others. We shall engage with this material through detailed formal analysis as well as through an exploration of central debates around auteurism from the 1950s until the present. Authors in, mostly, European cinema will serve as case studies, taking a cue from various scholars (e.g. Cook, Maule) that the film author is not only the most important symbol of European cinema’s cultural tradition and commitment, but also a crucial part of Europe’s efforts to develop its cinema within domestic and international film industries.

DP requirements: Attendance at all consultations; punctual submission of all written work.

Assessment: One seminar presentation (20%); one essay of 2500 words (30%); one essay of 5000 words (50%).

FAM5011S MEDIA AND THE PUBLIC DOMAIN

Class number 7102
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Associate Professor A Haupt

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.

Course outline: The key point of departure for Media & the Public Domain is that free speech rights in a democracy can be undermined by two nemeses. On the one hand, too much state control of the media can stifle the free circulation of information and, thereby, impoverish the public domain. On the other hand, too much corporate control of the media can impede the unfettered flow of information and, thereby, limit citizens’ ability to make informed decisions about the common good. This course pays particular attention to the ways in which corporate interests influence approaches to intellectual property and key changes in technology, often at the expense of the public interest. Media & the Public Domain explores debates about copyright, cultural appropriation and access to knowledge in relation to newer technologies like p2p platforms (e.g. Napster and Kazaa), social media platforms (Facebook, Twitter and YouTube) as well as the non-commercial sharing of cracked software, games, films and music. The specific focus of the course will be on the music and film industries’ responses to what it terms “piracy” of its intellectual property in the digital age.

DP requirements: Class attendance and timeous completion of all assignments. A DP warning will be issued if students miss two seminars without satisfactory explanation (e.g. medical certificates). Students will be denied a DP certificate if they then miss a third seminar.

Assessment: Major assignment 40%, minor assignment 30%, seminar presentations 30%.

FAM5014S MEDIA AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT POLICY
Class number 7387
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Dr I Saleh
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: The course deals with media and national development within the African context. The course provides an exploratory overview of how media has developed in Africa and the role of new media technologies in facilitating development. The digital era, and with it the convergence of new technologies with traditional/conventional media have raised critical policy questions on conventional regulatory telecommunications frameworks that lag behind new and emerging technologies. The course addresses the long-term challenge on how to go beyond the current reliance on donor funding, to the realisation of full sustainability. However, media, economic imperatives and political alignments have hindered this macro goal. The course explores the possibilities of reducing the current possible socio-political and economic constraints to maximise the benefits of active participation of digital citizenship or netizenship in South Africa within the framework of Afrocentricism. The course will be run as a “master class” on the topic of monitoring and evaluation in media development and national policy. It will feature a range of lectures, group discussions, as well as field trips to meet with individuals engaged with work in this field either as researchers, donors or recipients, including a number of minority and community projects. In order to maximise the output and opportunities for participants, the course will have a maximum of 20 students.

DP requirements: Attendance at all classes; punctual submission of written work.

FAM5038S  MOBILE MEDIA AND COMMUNICATION
Class number 7381
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Dr M Walton
Entrance requirements: Acceptance for an Honours or Master’s programme.
Course outline: The convergence of media, information and communication technologies (ICT) and the growth of global networks and relatively affordable mobile communication systems have been associated with dramatic shifts in society, organizations, individual identities and media industries. This course aims to develop students’ understanding of how mobile technologies and media are experienced in everyday life, particularly in South Africa and by the millions of mobile phone users in developing countries. Students will encounter a range of social approaches to mobile communication, including the social shaping of technologies, actor network theory, ethnographic and sociolinguistic approaches to interpersonal communication, human computer interaction and social network analysis.

The course covers topics such as the adoption and domestication of ICTs, the nature of mediated social networks and shifts in social power associated with many-to-many communication and new forms of social interaction and control across time and space. Claims about the developmental benefits and positive social ‘impact’ of mobile communications are critically considered. Students are introduced to a range of social research methodologies from which they select an appropriate method to investigate a focused research question of their choice.

Crucial to this exploration is an appreciation and understanding of the theoretical and philosophical frameworks that may most usefully be deployed in uncovering the complexities of the films: from the ground breaking thought of Frantz Fanon through the permutations of postcolonial theory to work on exilic and diasporic cinema and various postmodern and postnational investigations.

DP requirements: Attendance at all classes; punctual submission of written work.

Class number 7779
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Associate Professor M P Botha

Course entry requirements: Acceptance for a Master’s programme.

Course outline: Although filmmaking in South Africa has a history dating back more than a century and although the issues it raises are formidable complex, the field is still wide open for scholars. In this course, we aim to explore ways of examining fiction and documentary filmmaking in South Africa through the lens offered by a range of leading theorists of the last fifty years. While we shall give attention to the scholarly work that has gone before—the pioneering work of, notably, Thelma Gutsche, Keyan Tomaselli, Martin Botha and, more recently, Jacqueline Maingard and Lucia Saks—students will be challenged to find new ways of reading South African film, both past and contemporary. Students will also be strongly encouraged to make use of the outstanding archival resources in UCT’s library to generate new research subjects, new ways of focussing interpretive approaches to them and new ways of constructing the canon of South African film.

DP requirements: Attendance at all classes; punctual submission of written work.

Assessment: One seminar presentation of 2000 words 10%; two 6000-word essays 45% each.
FAM5041F  WRITING FOR FILM
Class number 6365
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Dr I-M Rijsdijk
Course entry requirements: Acceptance into the MA in Screenwriting or by permission of the convener.
Course outline: In this course, students will write 3 ten-minute screenplays in the genres of romantic comedy, social realism and slapstick in order to develop skills in writing the short film and to work across different genres. Their understanding of genre will extend beyond merely grasping the formula to exploring how to produce innovative and genre-bending screenplays that engage with deeper issues of human experience. Their writing will be informed by the examination of theories of screenwriting and storytelling and the exposure to, and analysis of, a range of filmic examples. Each screenplay will be accompanied by a reflexive exegesis of 3000 words where the student engages with his or her own work.
DP requirements: Attendance at all classes; punctual submission of written work.
Assessment: Three 10-minute screenplays + three 3000-word critical exegeses, 30% each. Continuing assessment of stepped tasks culminating in the 3 screenplays, 10%.

FAM5042H  THEORIES OF SCREENWRITING
Class number 5003
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Dr A J Smit
Course entry requirements: Acceptance into the MA in Screenwriting or by permission of the convener.
Course outline: This full-year course is designed to dovetail with the more praxis-oriented MA-level Writing for Film (FAM5041F) and Writing for Television (FAM5043S) courses. The Screenwriting Theories course is delivered as a mix of seminars, screenings, student presentations and analytical discussions, all informed by a range of studies in storytelling and genre by such major thinkers as Aristotle, whose Poetics continues to underpin much of contemporary thinking about narrative structure in screenwriting; Frank Kermode on the broader meanings of how and why we imagine beginnings and endings and the deep desire to tell stories; and the more specifically focussed work of key film genre critics such as Steve Neale. Students will look at the art of screenwriting for film and television through frameworks used extensively by both industry practitioners and scholars. Examining screenwriting from these perspectives should, in turn, inform the students' own work as screenwriters.
DP requirements: Attendance at all classes; punctual submission of written work.
Assessment: Two 6000-word essays (one in each semester) engaging with the theory and praxis explored by the course 50% each.

FAM5043S  WRITING FOR TELEVISION
Class number 7780
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Dr A J Smit
Course entry requirements: Acceptance into the MA in Screenwriting or by permission of the convener.
Course outline: In this course, students will write 1 one-hour procedural script and 1 one-hour drama script each to be accompanied by a reflexive exegesis of 3000 words where the student engages with his or her own work. Students will be expected to engage not only with the challenge of writing for the medium of television instead of film, but with the demands of writing for the longer format. As with the course on writing for film, their understanding of genre will extend beyond merely grasping the formula to exploring how to produce innovative and genre-bending scripts that engage with deeper issues of human experience, taking special note of the intimacy, immediacy and affect of the televisual medium. Their writing will be informed by the examination of theories of screenwriting and storytelling and the exposure to, and analysis of, a range of televisual examples.

DP requirements: Attendance at all classes; punctual submission of written work.

Assessment: One one-hour crime procedural script + 3000-word critical exegesis 40%; one one-hour TV drama + 3000-word critical exegesis 40%. Continuing assessment of stepped tasks 20%.

The Centre for Curating the Archive, which includes the Lucy Lloyd Archive and Research Centre (LLAREC) and Katrine Harries Print Cabinet, has been established as a vehicle for the conservation and creative use, through exhibition and publication, of both object, image and paper collections. It builds on UCT's dual institutional strength in its numerous and valuable research collections on which much critical research is based, and in its established, often innovative expertise in the area of presenting those collections. The linked research, often revealed in the public domain, uses these collections to facilitate and enrich public engagement around key questions of our times. It also aims to open up novel combinations of the historically separated domains of the creative arts, and the truth-claiming discourses of history and the social and natural sciences. In coupling the avowedly creative activity of curation with the seemingly objective site of archive the CCA signals its intention to draw attention to past and present processes of the making of archives of all kinds and the creation of meanings that flowed, and yet flow, therefrom. The CCA is engaged in several partnerships, notably through its new Honours specialisation in Curatorship with Iziko Museums of South Africa, and with Professor Carolyn Hamilton’s Archive and Public Culture Initiative in developing ARC: the Visual University and its Columbarium (www.arc.uct.ac.za).

The work of the CCA is represented on both its own website and at www.arc.uct.ac.za.
The Department of Historical Studies is housed in the Beattie Building, located on University Avenue, Upper Campus. The letter code for the Department is HST. Assessment: Examined by a combination of coursework (50%) and a research paper (50%).
HST4032S  ADDITIONAL TOPIC IN HISTORICAL STUDIES
Class number
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr B Kar
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours programme.

HST4034F  ORAL HISTORY: METHOD, PRACTICE AND THEORY
Class number 5604
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr S Field
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours programme.
Course outline: This option offers hands-on training in oral history research and interviewing skills and is suitable for students from a wide range of disciplines. The central focus is on the relationship between a person telling oral stories and another eliciting and listening to those stories. There is no simple road map on how to do oral history interviewing. Rather, training in oral history methodology is a learning process of how to make a series of research decisions appropriate to specific social, cultural and historical contexts. Students will learn how to do interviews on audio and video, and will explore applied theoretical approaches to oral narratives and memories. You will also explore questions of copyright, ownership, audio-visual archiving and the ways in which oral history can contribute to development practice.
All students will have to complete an oral history project which could become a pilot study for an Honours, Master’s or doctoral dissertation.
DP requirements: Attendance at all seminars and completion of all written work.
Assessment: Examined by a combination of coursework (50%) and a research project (50%).

HST4053F  DEBATES IN ECONOMIC HISTORY
(May not be offered in 2014)
Class number 6368
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Associate Professor L van Sittert
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours programme.
Course outline: One of the biggest puzzles of human history is why some countries became rich and others have remained poor. Or more particularly, why early modern Western European countries advanced ahead of their non-Western counterparts, and especially China. Since the publication of Kenneth Pomeranz’s The Great Divergence in 2000, global economic historians have begun to think of new answers to this question. This course is centred on Pomeranz’s canonical work and uses it as a base from which to explore this fundamental question of economic history. We will examine the evidence in support of and against Pomeranz’s view of economic history; in doing so we will investigate the nature of the early modern Chinese economy as well as the advanced economies of Western Europe. We will also confront the various ways in which historians have contributed to the debate. The Great Divergence is a key turning point in world history. Our interpretations of it shape our understanding of the modern world. Through this course, students will be challenged to identify their own causal chains explaining this momentous period of global economic history.
DP requirements: Attendance at all seminars and completion of all written work.
Assessment: Examined by coursework.
HIST4054F  TOPICS IN SOUTH AFRICAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
Class number 6369
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Professor A Mager
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours programme.
Course outline: Economic development and change in the post-apartheid period has generated a host of new questions for South African Economic History. What role did imported technology, technological innovation and economic sanctions play in South Africa’s industrialisation? What was the significance of sharecropping for the development of South African agriculture? What were the economic consequences of the collapse of reserve agriculture and environmental degradation in the reserves? What was the economic rationale for welfare under apartheid and beyond? How did South Africa re-join the global economy after 1994? These issues have generated rich debate and exciting new studies. This course will take up these questions and explore the approaches adopted by economic historians.
DP requirements: Attendance at all seminars and completion of all written work.
Assessment: Examined by coursework.

HST4055S  RACISM, COLONIALISM & GENOCIDE

Where appropriate, the course will introduce a comparative perspective to elucidate global dimensions of the subject. The impact of a range of social phenomena including modernity, nationalism, war, revolution and social Darwinism are also considered. Course work will include theoretical engagement with the concept of genocide as well as with contending approaches to the subject. Filmic depictions of genocide will form a significant theme throughout the course.
DP requirements: Attendance at all seminars and completion of all written work.
Assessment: A 3000 word essay (50%); class participation (20%); written assignments (30%).

HST4056S  THEMES IN EVERYDAY HISTORY
Class number 10535
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr B Kar
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for an Honours programme.
Course outline: This course is aimed at both making the students acquainted with the growing historical literature across the world on the daily experiences and unspectacular practices, and teaching them the skills of formulating original research questions. Each year this course focuses on an object or a practice or a sentiment usually considered too ordinary, too universal and too familiar to be adequately or excitingly historical, and gradually unpacks the various histories unevenly woven into it. Through a systematic investigation of the experiential contexts and daily praxis, the students are encouraged to think imaginatively and across the boundaries of disciplines. In pointing the students towards the emergent approaches and sites of new research, the course also attempts to train them in moving responsibly and creatively between big theoretical questions and specific, concrete histories. It is comprised of weekly two-hour seminars. In 2014 the course will be discussing the histories of sleep.
DP requirements: Attendance at all seminars and completion of all written work.
Assessment: Three Response papers (30%) and a 5000-word course essay (70%).

NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Course convener: Associate Professor L van Sittert
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for a Master’s programme.
Course outline: This course offers a historical investigation into a fundamental human relationship: that between debtor and creditor. We will address interdisciplinary approaches to debt, the rise and changing role of sovereign debt, the history of institutions for raising capital such as banks and securities exchanges, and the rise of private debt such as consumer credit and home mortgages. While we will address the economics of debt, the focus of the course is on understanding how debt shapes and has shaped economies and societies, affecting the fortunes and misfortunes of everyone, at least for the past 5000 years.
DP requirements: None
Assessment: Each student will be required to prepare a presentation for a seminar meeting. They are also required to write seminar assignments of at least 1000 words and based on the seminar readings. The seminar presentation and written assignments are worth 50% of the final mark. HST5013F ECONOMIC HISTORY: THEORIES, METHODOLOGIES, DEBATES
Class number 10181
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Associate Professor L van Sittert
Course entry requirements: Acceptance for a Master’s programme.
Course outline: This course examines the central theoretical and methodological issues in the field of economic history. Economic History, as a discipline that combines the diverse methodological approaches of history and economics, has a wide range of tools at its disposal. This course explores the benefits and limits of economic theory (both microeconomic and macroeconomic) as applied in order to understand past economic processes. It also examines the strengths and weaknesses of qualitative and quantitative evidence in economic history. Questions we examine include: What is the reliability of historical economic data? How can we compare living standards over time and space? What is the role of culture in economic behaviour? How can we account for imperfect information? What are the strengths and weaknesses of comparative economic history? How to incorporate written and non-written sources into economic history? What is an appropriate research proposal for economic history?
DP requirements: None
Assessment: Each student will be required to prepare a presentation for a seminar meeting. They are also required to write 12 seminar assignments of at least 1000 words and based on the seminar readings. The seminar presentation and written assignments are worth 40% of the final mark. Students will also be required to complete a substantial essay of approximately 5000 words, worth 50% of their final mark. For the final 10% of the course, students must submit a research proposal for their minor dissertation.

Telephone: (021) 650-3062.
Website: http://www.kaplancentre.uct.ac.za

Director:
Professor M Shain (Isidore and Theresa Cohen Chair in Jewish Civilisation, Department of Historical Studies)

The Kaplan Centre was established in 1980 under the terms of a gift to the University of Cape Town by the Kaplan Kushlick Foundation and is named in honour of the parents of Mendel and Robert Kaplan.

The Centre, the only one of its kind in South Africa, seeks to stimulate and promote the whole field of Jewish studies and research at the University with a special focus on the South African Jewish community. The Centre is multidisciplinary in scope and encourages the participation of scholars in a range of fields including history, political science, education, sociology, comparative literature and the broad spectrum of Hebrew and Judaic studies.

The Centre is engaged in both research and teaching and functions as a coordinating unit in the university. Its resources are used to invite distinguished scholars to teach Jewish-content courses within established University departments, to initiate and sponsor research projects, and to strengthen the university’s library holding of books, microfilms and archival sources. These research materials are made available to members of the University and to accredited visitors from the wider academic community.

The Centre awards a limited number of undergraduate and graduate scholarships as well as a limited number of research grants.

The Centre has a publications programme which brings out monographs and occasional papers. Lectures, symposia and conferences are arranged under the auspices of the Centre. In some cases these are organised with the University’s Centre for Extra-Mural Studies, thereby serving the wider community.

SLL5004W  CREATIVE WRITING DISSERTATION

NQF credits: 96 at HEQSF level 9

Convener: Professor J Hambidge

Course entry requirements: Admission to the MA (Creative Writing) specialisation or permission by the Head of Section.

Course outline: A novel, a collection of stories, a piece of creative non-fiction (preferably 60,000 to 80,000 words); or a collection of preferably forty poems accompanied by a 20,000 to 25,000 word expository essay. The creative work may also take the form of a text for delivery on an electronic platform (e.g. mobifiction). The size of the work will be decided in discussion with the specialisation Convener and supervisor. While an expository essay relating to the creative work and its contextual and theoretical underpinnings is required to accompany a collection of poetry, it may, at the discretion of the supervisor and specialisation Convener, be permitted or required where the creative work is a novel, a piece of creative non-fiction or a text for delivery on an electronic platform. In cases where an expository work is part of the dissertation, the two combined will be graded as a single whole although examiners will be guided as to the relative value of each. Although it is at times inevitable that the dissertation contains seeds of work produced in ELL5027F, ELL5024S and/or SLL5002S, the dissertation has to be, in essence, original and new work.
DP requirements: Regular consultation with supervisor as per a Memorandum of Understanding agreed and signed at time of first and each subsequent registration for the course.

MPhil specialising in Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE)

Convener: Dr G Hull
Politics Advisor: Professor A Seegers
Economics Advisor: Professor I Woolard
Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE): The PPE specialisation is an interdisciplinary specialisation incorporating courses and research in the three disciplines of Philosophy, Politics and Economics. Students entering the specialisation must identify their primary disciplinary focus in order to be placed in a home department. While all PPE students will complete at least one course in each of the disciplines, their research (Honours essay/project or Master’s minor dissertation) will be based in their home department, with registration and supervision complying with that department’s requirements.

General admission requirements:
For general admission into the specialisation, at both Honours and Master’s level, students must have successfully completed:
- A major, or its equivalent, in Philosophy, Politics or Economics,
- A minor, defined as at least two semester courses at second year level in the other two disciplines (excluding the major)
Acceptance to the specialisation is at the discretion of the Convener and requires the recommendation of the Head of the Department in the home department selected by the applicant.

Admission requirements per home department:
In addition to the above requirements, there are additional, specific requirements per home department.

Minimum admission requirements for Economics as home department:
- For Honours: 65% average for ECO3020F and ECO3021S, with no course less than 60%. Acceptance is conditional on passing the pre-Maths and Stats course ECO4112F.
- For Master’s: An overall average result of not less than 65% must be achieved at Honours level.

Minimum admission requirements for Politics as home department:
- For Honours: 68% average for at least two senior Politics courses. See Political Studies section in the handbook for further details of criteria taken into consideration in admission.
- For Master’s: An overall average result of not less than 65% must be achieved at Honours level, plus a strong performance in the Honours research component.

Minimum admission requirements for Philosophy as a home department:
- For Honours: 70% average for the Philosophy major. Students who do not quite achieve this mark may be admitted to the specialisation at the discretion of the Head of Department.
- For Master’s: An overall average result of not less than 70% must be achieved at Honours level, plus a strong performance in the Honours research component. Students who do not quite achieve this mark may be admitted to the specialisation at the discretion of the Head of Department.

BA/BScScHons specialising in Philosophy, Politics and Economics (120-130 NQF credits)

PHI4023F  HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY
Class number 10072
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8
Convener: Dr G Hull
Course entry requirements: Acceptance into the Philosophy Master’s programme.
Course outline: This course critically examines a cluster of topics from the history of philosophy. Topics will vary from year to year. If the course focuses on the work of one philosopher (e.g. Plato, St. Augustine, Descartes, Spinoza, Kant, Kierkegaard, Heidegger, Sartre), competing interpretations of several key writings by this figure will be studied as well as those writings themselves. The course might alternatively focus on a particular school of thought or tradition rather than just one past philosopher: e.g. Ancient Greek approaches to Teleology; Scholastic Metaphysics; Early Modern theories of Legitimacy and the State; the Idealism of Kant, Fichte, Schelling and Hegel; French Existentialist theories of Freedom; Critical Theory and the development of Western Marxism. In this case, as well as assessing the different arguments and views studied, the course will examine how philosophers from different times and places have (mis)interpreted and reacted to one another’s work.
DP requirements: Satisfactory attendance at seminars and submission of written work on time.
Assessment: Oral presentations and participation in weekly seminars, three essays of approximately 3,000 words each.

Postgraduate programmes

The Department offers the following specialisations:

- Honours and Master’s specialising in International Relations [POL03]
- Honours and Master’s specialising in Justice and Transformation [POL06]
- Honours and Master’s specialising in Politics [POL09]
- Honours and Master’s specialising in Public Policy and Administration [POL05]
- Research Master’s [POL01]
- Doctorate [POL01 - Political Studies; POL04 - Public Administration]
General rules and requirements:
The following rules and requirements apply to all coursework specialisations offered by the Department:

Application and Admission requirements:

General application information - External candidates and UCT students must apply formally via Admissions. In addition, candidates must complete an online questionnaire and provide writing samples for assessment. The questionnaire is available on the Political Studies website.

Department admission criteria – Honours and Coursework Master’s:
Refer to faculty rules FH3 and FM3 for minimum admission criteria. Admission to the Department's specialisations is selective and highly competitive. The Department admits only those candidates that it judges are likely to complete the degree programme successfully. Criteria taken into consideration for admission include:
- academic excellence, indicated by good performance in previous studies;
- academic potential, indicated by improving performance into and across the final year of previous study; and
- political, policy or work experience where it is relevant to the specialisation for which a candidate seeks admission.

Additional admission criteria for applicants from UCT:
Honours applicants who do not achieve a 65% average in the third year of undergraduate studies at UCT are unlikely to be selected for our specialisations. Conditional offers may be offered subject to achieving satisfactory results in the final semester.

Master’s applicants must obtain both a strong average for their Honours coursework as well as a strong mark for the Honours independent research project.

Subject pre-requisites are listed separately under each specialisation description.

Additional admission criteria for non-UCT applicants:
The same criteria generally apply as for UCT applicants above. The requested supporting documentation (questionnaire, writing samples) must be supplied and is a determining factor in the assessment.

Honours and Coursework Master’s specialisations - structure:
All specialisations comprise four taught courses at Honours level and four taught courses at Master’s level. Specialisations at both levels also include a research component. Courses are designated as Core and Elective Courses. Please consult the course outlines for descriptions of these courses.

Notes on courses:
1. Honours students may take a maximum of two 5000-level courses and Master’s students may take a maximum of two 4000-level courses.
2. Some courses are offered every year and others are offered on a 2-year cycle or intermittently. Consult the website for information on the course cycle.
3. All courses are offered conditional on a minimum number of students registering for the course.
4. All electives are listed subject to them being offered by their respective departments. Please check the listings at the back of this handbook or other relevant faculty handbooks to confirm their availability.
International Relations

Convener: Associate Professor J Akokpari

Specialisation objectives:
International Relations at the University of Cape Town tries to strike a balance between International Relations as a field of study that evolved over centuries and International Relations as it is currently studied. International Relations as traditionally studied usually meant a focus on three concerns: war, diplomacy and trade. Now described respectively as conflict or security, diplomacy and negotiation and the international political economy, these remain the central subjects we want to study. Our approach also values, however, the contributions of other sub-fields of Political Studies, especially Comparative Politics, and contributions from other disciplines. In International Relations scholarly debates, African cases and issues are crucial and, for this reason, graduates of our specialisation are often called upon to show their expertise in African and/or Southern African material.

Admission requirements:
Specific additional entry requirements for this specialisation are a past academic history in International Relations, Political Studies/Science or a strong academic background in a related discipline.

Justice and Transformation

This interdisciplinary specialisation is offered in collaboration with departments in the Humanities Faculty, the UCT Law Faculty, the Centre for the Study of Violence and Reconciliation (CSVR), the Institute for Justice and Reconciliation (IJR) and the International Centre for Transitional Justice (ICTJ).

Convener: Emeritus Professor A du Toit

Specialisation objectives:
The Honours/Master’s specialisation has been designed to locate current concerns and topical interests in justice and transformation in the more general perspectives of normative theory and comparative studies. It is inspired by the new directions in writing, research and teaching generated by the South African TRC-process but not confined to these. Instead, it links these new research interests and current debates in the area of transitional justice (including human rights law, conflict-resolution and peace-building, and social justice in transformation) with the more lasting intellectual perspectives provided by a thorough grounding in relevant academic disciplines.

Admission requirements:
At Honours level: a first degree majoring with an upper 2nd or close approximation. At Master’s level: a good Honours degree or its equivalent. Each of the sub-specialisations has its own disciplinary-based entrance qualifications (see below).

Prescribed curriculum:
The full MPhil-specialisation comprises 4 semester courses in each of the Honours and Master’s years plus an independent research project at Honours level and a Master’s minor dissertation component allowing exit options after the first year with an Honours degree and entry options at Master’s level. The specialisation is structured around a choice of two compulsory core courses and allows concentrations in four different areas of sub-specialisation, each with its own set of electives, in:

- Transitional Justice
- Human Rights
- Conflict Resolution
- Social Justice in Transformation

All the sub-specialisations share the same compulsory core courses and each specialisation has its own electives, with the remaining credits coming from a list of elective options or approved courses relevant to the Justice and Transformation specialisation. Some of the sub-specialisations provide for Internships, which may be substituted for one of the elective options (but not for the core courses).

MPhil specialising in Philosophy, Politics and Economics (192 NQF credits)

General Convener: Professor B Weiss (Philosophy) – Semester 1
Dr G Hull (Philosophy) - Semester 2
Politics Advisor: Professor A Seegers
Economics Advisor: Professor I Woolard

See details for this interdisciplinary specialisation in the Philosophy section of this handbook.

Public Policy and Administration

Convener: Professor R Cameron

The Honours and Master’s specialisation in Public Policy and Administration (PPA) has two main objectives:

- Firstly, the specialisation is designed to engender in its students the capacity to think objectively and analytically about the policy process;
- Secondly, it aims to provide students with a theoretical and empirical understanding of comparative and South African public administration.

Furthermore, the specialisation aims to help students become more effective as policy makers, public servants, researchers or policy analysts. We are also interested in developing the next generation of public policy and administration scholars.

Students studying for Honours and MPhil over two years will explore, inter alia, the academic analysis of public policy, the role and limitations of professional policy analysis, changes in the character of public management and administration, and comparative public administration. In addition, students acquire skills in research methods, and develop knowledge of a specific aspect of policy making or public administration in contemporary South Africa in a chosen ‘field of concentration’. After completing an Honours project that surveys academic literature and policy experience in an area, students who proceed to Master’s will have the opportunity to work on a minor dissertation in their designated field. The specialisation is also open at Master’s level to students with appropriate academic backgrounds.
Admission requirements:
For admission at Honours level, students must have successfully completed a Bachelor’s degree. For admission to the MPhil specialisation, students must have successfully completed an Honours degree. Students should have a background in economics, public administration, politics, African Studies, law, gender studies, philosophy, the social sciences or related disciplines.

Please note that admission to our specialisation is highly competitive and not all applicants will be accepted.

BA/BSocScHons specialising in Public Policy and Administration (126 NQF credits)

POL5027F  PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION THOUGHT
Class number 10040
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Professor R Cameron

Course entry requirements: Admission to an Honours or Master’s programme, and by permission of the course convener.

Course outline: In South Africa, Public Administration is largely taught as an art. This unique course on Public Administration Thought attempts to move beyond this practical application and traces the intellectual evolution of the field as an academic discipline. The course aims to lay the foundation for Public Administration scholarship.
It examines the major theories and concepts that underpin the field and also looks at the major thinkers in the discipline such as Wilson, Weber, Simon and Waldo. It exposes students to the contending approaches in the study of public administration and looks at the relationship between theory and practice.

The second part of the course argues that the 'nuts and bolts' approach to the subject has led to the intellectual crisis of Public Administration in South Africa. This has led not only to a paucity of knowledge-based research in the field but has also contributed to narrowly trained public servants with limited understanding of crucial Public Administration debates which inform practice.

DP requirements: Completion of all written work as stipulated by the course convener.

Assessment: Coursework 70%; examination 30%.

Part two provides a critical engagement with the key terms framing the conceptual frameworks in post-conflict reconciliation and transitional justice, and explores how these have been operationalised in empirical studies. Part three of the course examines the various methodologies that have been employed in TJ research. It examines examples of such studies especially in the African context and unpacks the contribution they make to policy and practice. The fourth part of the course reflects on the ethics and politics of TJ research and assesses the dangers of doing research, the relationship between the researcher and the researched, and the impact of research funding on what questions are being asked. The course will cover a wide range of qualitative and quantitative approaches and offer an opportunity to explore some of these more deeply.
The course will draw on published research that has been conducted in various countries around the globe including South Africa, Uganda, Rwanda with reference to international comparative studies including Afghanistan, Nepal, Northern Ireland, Chile, Peru etc.

PSY5025W CLINICAL PRACTICALS
Class number 4924
NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Professor M Solms

Course entry requirements: Acceptance into MA Neuropsychology.
Course outline: This course forms the second main pillar of the first year and is of fundamental importance. The seminars are conducted at the bedside (and in other assessment settings), with constant didactic reference to the theoretical knowledge acquired during the first semester.
The sessions are divided into two sections. The aim of the first section is to provide students with direct casework with patients suffering from the disorders and pathologies that are taught in the academic and clinical seminars, and of the neuropsychological assessment process in respect of these disorders, including report-writing, feedback to patients, and liaison with referring professionals. In these sessions, the patients are assessed by one of the faculty members, who explain to the students their clinical reasoning, en passant, while they read the referral letter and clinical records, plan and conduct the assessment, reach their conclusions, counsel the patient, and write their report. The aim of the second section is to provide students with an opportunity to take their first steps in conducting neuropsychological assessments themselves, under supervision, to pave the way for independent practice. Special care is to be taken to ensure that students see patients of all ages (children, adults, geriatrics), with a wide range of pathologies (including functional medical and surgical cases), in both acute and chronic care settings (including outpatient and rehabilitation settings).

DP requirements: Attendance at all seminars

Assessment: One practical examination 100%.

PBL5623F GOVERNING UNDER THE CONSTITUTION: LAW AND PRACTICE
NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: Professor P de Vos
Course entry requirements: See Rules for LLM and MPhil Degrees and Postgraduate Diplomas in Faculty of Law.
Course outline: South Africa’s new Constitution sets out the rights of citizens and establishes a framework for democratic governance and local government. In developing these institutions, along with a multi-level system comprising national, provincial and local government, South Africa’s constitutional designers were responding to the needs and aspirations of contemporary South Africa. But they, in light of this comparative experience, also had before them a rich array of alternatives from other countries. The central purpose of this course is to seek to understand the new framework for governance in South Africa.
Constitutions are complex mixtures of broad principles, and specific rules and institutions. Accordingly, we will be interested in two levels of analysis: first, what broad principles and values underpin the institutional framework, and how are these expressed in the institutions themselves? And, second, more practically, how do these institutions, and the interactions among them, actually work in shaping the process of policy-making and implementation?
Thus we are interested in the values associated with democracy – participation, accountability, consensus, etc.; and in those associated with what might be called ‘effective governance’, in light of the policy challenges which face the country.

The course will thus also provide you with an understanding of how government works with a focus on

(i) the relationship between the executive and the legislature and what that means for lawyers and
(ii) the relationship between national, provincial and local government.

Our study of multi-level government and the powers of each sphere of framework necessary for policy making and litigation in this area.

DP requirements: Satisfactory attendance at and participation in seminars and completion of written assignments.

Assessment: Written assignments count 30%, written examination counts 70% of the final grade.

PBL5634F HUMAN RIGHTS LAW

NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 9

Convener: Associate Professor R Calland

Course entry requirements: See Rules for LLM and MPhil Degrees and Postgraduate Diplomas.

Course outline: The South African Bill of Rights expressly declares itself to be the 'cornerstone of democracy' and affirms the democratic ideals to which the post-apartheid society is committed. It represents a decisive break with the past and is a manifestly transformative document. The listed rights range from property rights to justifiable socio-economic rights; there are affirmative state duties to promote and protect rights; class actions and public interest litigation are permitted; and there is provision for 'horizontal' application of some of the rights. The courts have developed a significant body of case-law. The Constitutional Court has, for example, pronounced on issues as varied as the death penalty, housing and the provision of anti-retroviral drugs to HIV-positive pregnant women.

This course will provide students with an understanding of the South African Bill of Rights. It will consider in detail the jurisprudence of the Constitutional Court, and where appropriate, the Supreme Court of Appeal and international and comparative human rights law.

This will begin with a discussion of judicial review and the success of human rights litigation.
A general overview of the operational provisions of the Bill of Rights, including the provisions dealing with application, interpretation and limitation of rights, will follow. The focus here will be the extent to which the courts are developing a theory of deference which balances protection of rights with the principle of separation of powers. This part of the course will also consider the record of the courts in developing the common law in the light of the Bill of Rights.

A critical analysis of the jurisprudence of the courts on selected rights will follow. The focus will depend on the interests of the class, but core rights such as equality, dignity, freedom of expression and religion will be generally be considered. There will also be a discussion of the jurisprudence of the courts on socio-economic rights and the extent to which the inclusion of socio-economic rights in a Bill of Rights has influenced judicial rights discourse.

DP requirements: Satisfactory attendance at all lectures and participation in class seminars.

Assessment: Participation in seminars and written assignments count for 50% and the final examination counts for 50% of the final grade.

Course entry requirements: An LLB or Honours degree in selected Social Science disciplines.

Course outline: This inter-disciplinary course is about law in context, poverty alleviation being the main theme. The course pays particular attention to how different conceptualisations of development, social justice and poverty lead to an emphasis on different institutional structures, different policies and different outcomes. The course aims to equip students with various analytical lenses and to interrogate the historical and the potential role of law in pursuing social justice.

DP requirements:

Assessment: Assignments count 50%; examination counts 50%.

PBL5648S SOCIAL JUSTICE IN PRACTICE

(Not offered in 2014)

NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 9

Convener: M von Broembsen

Course entry requirements: An LLB or Honours degree in selected Social Science disciplines.

Course outline: This course is concerned with social justice in practice. Our touchstone is the transformative vision embodied in the Constitution of South Africa, as we reflect on the interplay between rights, social mobilisation, advocacy and developmental strategies within a participatory democracy. Using ‘Legal Empowerment of the Poor’ as a lens, the course reflects on notions of empowerment; how power (including our own) impacts on and shapes the practical outworking of social justice and at times results in unintended consequences.

The main focus of the seminars is on practical strategies intended to facilitate social justice. Students will study the theory in each area and undertake selected site visits to projects that reflect best practice. Students are assigned to work with a civil society organization for the duration of the course. Each student will be required to spend 32 hours with the organisation, spread over the period of the course. The course concludes with the design and implementation of a small-scale development intervention by the student, in conjunction with the civil society partner.

DP requirements: None

Assessment: Participation and class assignments count 50%; practical project instead of written exam counts 50%. Students are required to pass the practical project in order to pass the course.
PBL5815S  PUNISHMENT AND HUMAN RIGHTS
NQF credits: 30 at HEQSF level 9
Convener: K Phelps
Course entry requirements: See Rules for LLM and MPhil Degrees and Postgraduate Diplomas.
Course outline: This course aims to provide students with a sound theoretical understanding both of the justifications of punishment and human rights constraints in the context of sentencing. Students then apply this understanding to practical examples in order to assess how/ if the theory translates into practice. In so doing it is hoped to transcend a common-sense approach to sentencing and punishment and to build firm opinions/approaches based on acquired knowledge.
The course is divided into four broad sections. The first section introduces the class to the various philosophical justifications that have historically been provided for sentencing. A brief introduction is also provided to the relationship between human rights law and penal sanctions. The second section explores in detail the current justifications for punishment/purposes of the correctional system. In so doing, issues such as deterrence, incapacitation, rehabilitation, restoration, retribution and just deserts will be explored. Section three deals with constraints placed on sentencing in South Africa by human rights norms contained in the Bill of Rights and international law. The final section of the course places the preceding theoretical/philosophical discussions into a practical context by dealing with current and future sentencing practice in South Africa. Modes of implementing punishment (prison, community sanctions) and special stakeholders in punishment (minority groups, children) will also be considered.
DP requirements: 80% attendance at, and satisfactory participation in, seminars and the completion of the research papers and oral presentation.
Assessment: The presentation of at least one seminar and two research papers. Marks given for the seminars and research papers comprise the entire mark for the course.

The course will be presented through a series of seminars/lectures.

Mission Statement
The Department of Religious Studies is committed to research and teaching which will contribute to public life in our local, regional, national and continental contexts. It is dedicated to:

- an open, plural, intercultural, and interdisciplinary study of religion in all its forms;
- the in-depth study of African religious traditions;
- the creative and critical analysis of religion as a force in personal, social, economic and political life;
- the promotion of quality education and research in the study of religion as a vital contribution to the transformation and development of South Africa.

The mission statement is implemented through degree specialisations that focus on the broad theme of religion, culture and identity. The Department offers a systematic study of religion in public life, its meaning and significance in South Africa in particular and Africa in general. The broad theme reflects the various research projects of the faculty members and institutes presently housed in the Department. The theme is also explored in core courses team-taught by faculty members.
Core courses provide the thematic, methodological and theoretical foundations for all students who choose to pursue degrees in the Department. Additional courses continue this focus within the established areas of specialisation: African Studies, Christian Studies, Comparative Studies, Islamic Studies, Buddhism and Critical Theory.

Courses in areas of specialisation

Hereunder follows a broad map of the courses offered in the areas of specialisation. Not all courses indicated below will be offered in any given year. However, they will follow the pattern outlined here.

African Studies
The courses in African studies explore the varieties of indigenous religious belief systems as well as the impact of global religions like Christianity (especially Pentecostalism) and Islam in the continent. Students will be prepared to do research on religion in Africa through different methodological and theoretical paradigms. A specialization in African studies can be pursued in combination with a focus on Christian and/or Islamic studies.

Buddhism
The department is now offering postgraduate study and supervision in Asian religious traditions with a special emphasis on Buddhism. Currently an Honours level course on Buddhism and Modernity and guided reading projects through Reading Religious Texts are offered. Research interests include the contemporary spread and transformations of Buddhism, Buddhism and Globalisation, conversion and socially and environmentally engaged Asian spiritualities.

Christian Studies
The courses in Christian Studies are divided into four categories. Explorations in the New Testament and early Christianity: this section looks at Christian origins and the development of Christianity in the first and second centuries of the Common Era. Explorations in the Christian traditions of Africa: this section examines the different types and traditions of Christianities in Africa, for example, Missionary or Colonial Christianity, African Independent (or Initiated/Instituted) Christianity (Zionism in Southern Africa and the Aladura movement in Western Africa), Christianity and Social Issues: this segment critically examines social issues from the perspective of believing communities and the solutions these diverse faith groups proffer to these issues (for example, abortion, poverty, political engagement, religious NGOs and Philanthropy, health and healing practices, HIV/AIDS). Sociology of African Pentecostalism: this section debates the social impact and trajectories of Christian new religious movements and new forms of believing and being Christian as espoused by the Pentecostal-charismatic churches and ministries, their engagement with media (religious broadcasting, Pentecostal advertising), fiscal and political practices.

Comparative Studies
The courses in Comparative Studies are divided into two categories: Issues in the Study of Religion and Religion in Contemporary Society. The first area includes courses in the Problem of Religion, Religion and Ritual, Sacred Space, Religion, Gender and Embodiment, and the History of Religions in Southern Africa. Course entry requirements: Acceptance into an Honours programme.
Course outline: This course explores the multidimensional phenomenon of religion by using the resources of theory and method developed in the academic study of religion. As an open, plural, intercultural and interdisciplinary field of study, the academic study of religion has developed a range of basic categories, such as myth, for the analysis, interpretation and explanation of religion in all its forms. These categories, however, have emerged out of a history that includes both the European Enlightenment and European colonialism. In the context of that history, this course explores the potential and the limits of basic categories in the study of religion for gaining knowledge about religion and the religions.

DP requirements: Submission of all prescribed assignments by due dates. Regular attendance of weekly seminars.

Assessment: Careful preparation of reading assignments for seminar discussion; Five weekly papers (2-5pp) each developing a single point of analysis, interpretation, explanation or argumentation supported by evidence in response to the readings 40%; one research project (approx. 5 000 words) on a topic to be arranged with the instructor 60%.

REL4048S  CRITICAL THEORY

(Not offered in 2014)

NQF credits: 24 at HEQSF level 8

Convener: Dr L Blond

Course entry requirements: Acceptance into an Honours programme.

Course outline: All religious traditions have been fundamentally altered by their encounters with modernity. Enlightenment reason and the growth of secularism have continually challenged and eroded not only religious traditions but also the foundations of Western political culture in general. In order to understand this process, a new mode of theoretical investigation arose in the early 20th century which became known as Critical Theory. Critical Theory allows an exploration of not only the social processes but also the modes of investigation, including the dominant forms of Western reasoning that requires analysis and critical engagement.

This course will introduce students to a variety of thinkers and concepts enabling them to understand and study a range of phenomena and social processes. Thinkers such as Max Horkheimer, Theodor Adorno, Walter Benjamin, Michel Foucault, Franz Fanon and Judith Butler will be studied in order to gain critical insight into contemporary problems. The concepts and methodology of critical theorists will be examined thereby giving students the tools to enter crucial debates surrounding subjectivation, power, gender, post-colonial theory and aesthetics.

DP requirements: Submission of all prescribed assignments by due dates. Regular attendance of weekly seminars.

Assessment: Weekly papers 50% and one 4,000 word essay 50%.

The CCI was founded in 1995 to bring attention to the scholarly study of Islam and Muslim societies and communities. It engages in a number of research projects, often in collaboration with other African and international scholars. Currently, the projects are: Islam and Public Life in Africa; South African Muslim Women: Sexuality, Marriage and Reproductive Choices; Biographies of Religious Engagement. The first and third are led by Professor Abdulkader Tayob, and the second by Associate Professor Sa’diyya Shaikh. The projects are directed to a sustained study of Islam, values and historical change.

Through its projects, the CCI provides a place for researchers to share ideas and develop insights on Islam and Muslim societies. It creates a space where students are inspired and supported to embark upon a systematic study and reflection on issues of great interest to scholars and the general public. Scholarships at graduate level are available on a regular basis.

The CCI has both regular and occasional publications. The Journal for Islamic Studies is an annual peer-reviewed publication accredited by the Department of Education (South Africa), and Annual Review of Islam in Africa provides a forum for young and established researchers to publish their findings in an accessible format.

This community straddles many spheres including community and non-governmental organisations, research organisations, agencies at various levels of government, media organisations and possibly corporate social responsibility offices. It is envisaged that MPhil (Development Studies) graduates will eventually take leading positions in this community; developing and disseminating knowledge about those sectors of society worst affected by socio-economic inequity, and devising strategies for them to gain access to resources and grow their capacity to optimise these resources.

Industrial Sociology

Convener: Professor A Sitas

Admission requirements
(a) Faculty requirements are set out under Rules FH3 and FM3.
(b) Specialisation requirements:
   The minimum requirement for entry into the Honours is a good Bachelor’s degree (68% or above) with a major in a relevant field of study in the social sciences or law. A major or specialization in Industrial Sociology, Labour Law, Human Resource Management, Organisational and/or Industrial Psychology, is a distinct advantage. HIV/AIDS messages in a multi-lingual context. The final part of the course focuses on policy, the budgetary framework, and the politics of HIV/AIDS.

The Gordon Institute for Performing and Creative Arts (GIPCA) facilitates new collaborative and interdisciplinary creative research projects across faculty but particularly in the disciplines of Music, Dance, Fine Art, Drama, Creative Writing, Film and Media Studies. Interdisciplinarity is a key theme of the institute and projects are imbued with innovation, collaboration and a dialogue with urbanism and community. Projects bring together diverse entities: the various creative and performing art disciplines at UCT, as well as the university and city, training institutions and the profession. The institute actively seeks partners both outside of the university and within it, in an effort to enrich the research and development of creative work and to make such work available to all communities.

GIPCA was launched in December 2008 with a substantial grant from Sir Donald Gordon, founder of Liberty Life. An Advisory Board comprising Heads of Departments of all performing and creative arts departments helps to shape contexts for the instigation and development of projects by the university’s students and staff, as well a wide range of institutions and individuals outside the university.

Institute for the Humanities in Africa (HUMA)

Located in the Faculties of Humanities and Law, HUMA takes a broad view of the humanities, encompassing the social sciences and law.

The humanities have long been vital to the creative and critical energies of societies in the throes of profound change. HUMA – the Institute for the Humanities in Africa – is a new initiative at UCT, intended to create a space of dynamic interdisciplinary community for scholars and students in the humanities at large. Fostering top-end academic research, HUMA seeks also to draw on that work to nurture critical public debate, promoting UCT’s vision of itself as a civic university contributing to the making of democratic citizenship.
HUMA’s intellectual agenda is driven by two inclusive research themes ‘on being human’, and ‘circuits of consumption’, which inform and structure three primary objectives:

- to conduct and promote research that is historically grounded and theoretically engaged, with an eye to the ‘big’ theoretical and ethical questions that anchor South African issues in wider fields of experience and analysis. The combination of intellectual focus and breadth provided by HUMA’s research themes is intended to open up spaces for dialogue, collaboration and argument across disparate theoretical, epistemological and methodological traditions, and in ways that help examine the project of interdisciplinary work.

- to nurture the expertise and enthusiasm of graduate students interested in an academic career, through a combination of intensive and supportive doctoral supervision, and a broader programme of seminars, symposia and workshops that help develop the intellectual versatility and confidence which an academic career requires. A doctoral fellowship programme is central to the pursuit of this objective.

- to bring scholars and graduate students into conversation with interested publics, around issues of shared and topical concern. HUMA hopes to promote what public intellectuals in the humanities do best, which is to de-familiarise and unsettle established ways of seeing, think creatively about pressing social and political questions, and keep the imagination of alternative futures alive.

This mission is embedded in a particular understanding of our location in Africa. Africa is a landmass with a deep and complex history of connection and disconnection amongst its many inhabitants; being African means being party to formative relationships of connection and disconnection that shape the ways we think and act. Our scholarship and debate, then, will be positioned in Africa, even if the focus of our deliberations is not limited to the continent.
