Re: Potential Fees Must Fall protests at UCT scare away foreign students

Good day,

Your article titled "Potential Fees Must Fall protests at UCT scare away foreign students" refers.

The last paragraph needs clarification. The paragraph states: "This is representative of the usual international student population at UCT. Usually 75% of the students are from the US, so any attrition is likely to register greater numbers in this group of students."

We would like to clarify that this was only in reference to the Semester Student Abroad student population. Most of our international students studying other programmes at UCT are in fact from other African countries. The 75% refers to students on our semester study abroad programme only.

Could you kindly update the online versions of this story please?

Regards,

Elijah Moholola
