

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR / PROFESSOR

INSTITUTE OF MARINE & ENVIRONMENTAL LAW

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC LAW

FACULTY OF LAW

The Department of Public Law, within the Faculty of Law, invites applications for an academic post specializing in marine and environmental law. The post is advertised at the level of Associate Professor / Professor with appointment as soon as possible.

We wish to appoint an applicant with an excellent academic record, academic leadership ability and who wishes to be part of a faculty in which a critical approach to the study of international and domestic marine and environmental law is valued. As the successful candidate, you will be expected to play a comprehensive role in teaching, research and supervision in marine and environmental law at both the LLB and postgraduate (PhD/LLM/MPhil) levels. We are specifically looking to appoint someone whose interest and expertise include marine law generally and the international law of the sea in particular. You will also be expected to fulfil the administrative functions typically associated with the level at which you are appointed. Undertaking socially responsive activities is also required. The successful candidate will be located in the Institute of Marine and Environmental Law (www.imel.uct.ac.za).

Candidates suitable for appointment as an Associate Professor must have:

- A doctoral degree or equivalent level of scholarship specialising in marine and environmental law;
- Lecturing experience in marine and environmental law or equivalent relevant experience;
- Demonstrable capacity to supervise at a postgraduate level;
- A strong and consistent record of publications in marine and environmental law appropriate to the level of Associate Professor;
- Evidence of administrative experience; and
- Track record of socially responsive activities, public and professional service.

Candidates suitable for appointment as Professor must have:

- A doctoral degree or equivalent level of scholarship specialising in marine and environmental law;
- Extensive lecturing experience in marine and environmental law;
- An established record of postgraduate supervision;
- A strong and consistent record of publications in marine and environmental law appropriate to the level of Professor;
- Evidence of academic and administrative leadership; and
- Strong track record of socially responsive activities, public and professional service.

Responsibilities:

- Teaching undergraduate and postgraduate courses offered by the Department of Public Law in international and domestic marine and environmental law as required by the Department, including courses offered outside of the Faculty of Law.
- Supervising Master's and doctoral students (as appropriate to the level of appointment).
- Maintaining a research profile and publication output commensurate for level of appointment.
- Providing academic leadership and service in the Institute of Marine and Environmental Law and in the Department of Public Law generally, including curriculum development, appropriate to the level of appointment.
- Contributing to university, faculty and departmental activities and administrative responsibilities appropriate to the level of appointment.

The annual remuneration packages, including benefits and scarcity allowance for the respective levels for 2022 is:

- Associate Professor: R 1 279 406
- Professor: R 1 560 954
